

WITH THE BUILDERS

Great Activity Shown Throughout the City

Business in the building line in this city at the present time is very brisk, but there is little new work of much account being started, owing probably to the fact that there is so much work underway at the present time that the builders have their hands full and wish to finish up on the work they are on at before starting any new work.

The work on the different buildings under way throughout the city is being pushed ahead with great rapidity and many of the large structures are well advanced. The brick work on the O'Hearn building at the corner of Jefferson and Market streets is up to the third story; the brick work on the Saunders building in Summer street. The foundation for the brick building in Market street, being erected by P. Conlon, is nearly completed, while Cyrus Barton has the foundation for the Matthews building on Dutton street well under way, and much progress has been made in the erection of the new mill for the Bigelow Carpet Co.

It is understood that there are plans ready for the erection of numerous buildings in the city, but they will not be made public until a good part of the present rush is over. There is also a rumor current to the effect that within a year several new mill buildings will be erected here.

The season has been very brisk thus far and without doubt will prove to be

Alberto Smithson Hurt on Bridge St.

Alberto Smithson, of Dracut Centre, had a narrow escape from fatal injury while driving through Bridge street shortly after twelve o'clock this morning. He was driving along at a rapid rate of speed and attempting to pass another vehicle driven by two men. An electric car met them where the railroad tracks cross into the Massachusetts mills and in trying to clear the latter, the team which was driven by the two men crowded Smithson and forced him against a telegraph pole.

The wheels of the wagon driven by Smithson collided with the pole, throwing the man into the street. He was picked up unconscious, and the ambulance telephoned for, but on its arrival he had regained his senses and was driven to his home in Dracut.

The wagon driven by Smithson was completely demolished, while the horse escaped uninjured.

Drowned in Canal While Bathing

William McDonald, aged nine years and son of John F. McDonald, foreman at the power house of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company in Middlesex street, and residing at 5 Smith street, was drowned while bathing in the canal in the rear of Doherty's laundry off Middlesex street late yesterday afternoon.

The boy was an attendant at the Franklin school and at the close of school went to his home and told his mother he was going out to play. The boy was accompanied by Jerry Corbin and James Mosher and all wended their way to what is known as the "dry hole."

McDonald couldn't swim, but was trying to jump. He stood in the water near the top of the building, when he suddenly lost his balance and slipped into the hole where the water was quite deep. His struggles for a footing were ineffectual and he sank for the last time before help could be obtained.

Other boys were swimming a short way below, and when notified ran to the hole and tried to pull the boy out, but they were unable to reach the body. He was unsuccessful.

The McDonald boy had been in the hospital all the past winter, having been severely hurt from being hit with a golf ball.

Besides his father and mother the little fellow leaves three sisters and one brother to mourn his loss.

Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons were notified of the accident and went to the scene with grappling irons, but at the time of going to press the body had not been recovered.

At 10 o'clock tonight the water in the Western canal will be drawn off and Western canal will be drawn off and Undertaker O'Donnell will try to locate the body.

SPOTTED FEVER

One new case of cerebro-spinal meningitis was reported at the office of the board of health yesterday afternoon. The case is that of William Murray, 5 years old, 52 Keene street. There have been 53 cases up to date and 47 of them have proved fatal. Fifteen cases are now under treatment.

No new cases of small-pox have been reported and it will be only a little while until the patients now at the contagious hospital will be released.

MAYOR OPPOSED

To Increasing Insurance on Buildings

Mayor Casey has mailed a letter to the insurance committee of the city council, opposing the proposed increase of the rate of insurance on buildings.

HEAVY STATE TAX

As was stated in The Sun several weeks ago the tax rate this year is likely to be higher than last. The "old you say" fellows are making all kinds of predictions about the increased tax rate but they deal in general statements. The state levy for Lowell this year will be $200,000 as against $150,000 last year. The board of assessors, however, has not received any official notice of the increased state tax.

DASICOS PAID $15

For Hanging 'Round Leblanc's Home

When Christos Dasikos was arrested for trespassing on complaint of Octave Leblanc, the first information given to the police was to the effect that Dasikos was calling upon Leblanc's daughter and refused to leave.

But when the case was called in police court this morning it turned out to be entirely different and of a much more serious nature. The defendant pleaded not guilty. The complainant was the wife of Leblanc rather than his daughter.

Mary Leblanc, residing in Coolidge street, was the first witness, and testified: "I have known the defendant about five weeks. He came to the house last Wednesday and he came to my house seven times this week and on Monday showed me money and wanted to stay. I told him to go away three times on Monday and since then he has been there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and each time I ordered him out."

Cross examined by Lawyer Hagan witness said that the defendant begged his visits to her house last Monday.

Octave Leblanc, the husband, testified that he had seen the defendant coming out of the house on Tuesday. On cross examination he said he knew the defendant by sight and had never spoken to him.

Allice Shandley, a neighbor, testified that the defendant made an improper proposition to her after coming out of the complainant's tenement.

"I saw him looking for the kid," said the witness.

"Do you keep goats there?" asked the court.

"No," said the witness.

"What do you mean by the kid?" demanded the court.

"My young sister," replied the witness smiling sweetly.

Christos Dasikos the defendant testified he came here on May 8 by the Greek calendar and moved to Coolidge street. On Monday he met the complainant's little boy in the street and the latter took a chain belonging to him and ran away with it.

"I saw the mother several times afterward and told her that he wanted the chain. The boy whom he claims ran away with the chain is only seven years of age. Dasikos denied that he ever offered any money to the woman or made any proposition to her.

The court found Dasikos guilty and fined him $15.

One drunk was released, five fined $2 and one fined $5. There was a suspended sentence and Michael Dillon a parole man from the state farm will be sent back tomorrow.

Samuel Berry, a young husband barely out of his teens was complained of by his wife for non-support and she said that Sammy had not been working of late while she was forced to return to her folks to live. She said furthermore that Sammy had been drinking. The young husband said he had taken the pledge and would go to work Monday. The court gave them some sound advice and Probation Officer Sutterly did the rest.

The case of Stanislaus Kucharski charged with stealing $50 from a fellow countryman was continued until tomorrow.

McNULTY WILL

Third Hearing Held at Court House

The third hearing in the McNulty will case was held in the probate court room at the local court house in the morning. Judge McLaughlin presiding.

The case opened at the last regular session of the probate court held in this city.

At the opening of the court Lawyer Nathan D. Pratt, one of the counsel for the will, offered the bank book containing $1000 which had been turned over to the special administrator of the estate after the death of Hannah McNulty.

The first witness called was Catherine Kane, who testified to knowing Hannah McNulty since she came to Lowell, the deceased paying a visit to witness's home almost every Sunday and some time during the week.

Continuing witness said: "She was a summer in the Appleton mill until about five or six years prior to her death, after which she went out house-keeping and taking care of children. She could read, but I do not know whether she could write."

"She went to church every Sunday and afterwards came to my house for dinner and stayed for supper generally, staying with me until eight or nine o'clock."

"I saw her the Tuesday before she died and spoke to her. I went up to see her Thursday night, and saw her, but she was unconscious. She died the following morning. The last time she called at my house before her death was on a Sunday in October. She complained of feeling ill at the time. When I last saw her I did not notice anything unusual in her conversation. Miss Mary McNulty was with me at that occasion."

Barrels of fun and merriment at the Rollway Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening. Concert free, every one invited.

MARTIN MISSING

NEW YORK, June 2—Details have just been received here of the mysterious disappearance recently in Brighton, Eng., of Melford Martin, a wealthy young American.

The young man's mother, whose home was in New York, married some time ago Dr. Walsh of San Francisco, wishing to supervise her son's education. Mrs. Walsh accompanied him to Europe in the early part of last March. After visiting France, England and Ireland, young Martin and his mother arrived at Brighton on April 28, and took a suite of rooms at an exclusive hotel.

Martin made friends among the chorus girls of a vaudeville pavilion and early in May walked out on a pier with one of them. "The girl returned to the pavilion for a short time, Martin having promised to await her on the pier. That was the last seen of him."

FUNERALS

HOLDEN—The funeral of Mrs. Emily Holden took place from her late home in North Hillier street yesterday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Howe officiated. The bearers were David and Frank Melville and George and Frank Holden. Burial was in Fox Hill cemetery. Undertaker C. M. Young & Co. had charge.

CALLED A TRAITOR

Strong Feeling Against Admiral Nebogatoff in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2, 2:03 p. m.—The Russian press this morning is still advocating more vigorously than ever the summoning of a national assembly, even the reactionary Soviet, in view of the current rumors it is most difficult that the papers which are more or less in the confidence of the government, unanimously take the position that representatives of the people should decide the question of peace or war.

All consulars are now removed from foreign dispatches and the people are appalled at the horrible reports of slaughter on board the Russian ships. The admiralty has not yet been able to estimate even approximately from the foreign press the loss of men, but as the ships were over, rather than under manned, the total will be greater than the ordinary complement of the vessels would indicate and probably will exceed 10,000 if only about 4,000 were saved.

Requiem masses are being celebrated constantly. In all the churches and chapels for the repose of the souls of the slain although the distracted relatives are unable to learn definitely the fate of those dear to them.

The admiralty up to the present has been unable to throw any light on the situation, except to announce the safety of those who have reached Vladivostok.

FAIRGROUND FIRE

Cattle Sheds Burned in Lively Blaze

FIRE SPREAD TO COAL ELEVATOR

Which Was Considerably Damaged

About two hundred feet of the cattle sheds on the back of the Middlesex North Agricultural fair grounds in Gorham street were destroyed by fire late yesterday afternoon, and the big coal elevator, in the rear of the Bleachery railroad station, and belonging to Peter Molahan, was badly damaged by fire, while there were many buildings in the vicinity threatened owing to the high wind which was blowing and the difficulty that the firemen had in securing water to play on the burning buildings.

The fire was caused by a spark from a racing engine dropping on the roof of one of the sheds and owing to the high wind the sparks communicated to the roof of the Molahan coal elevator about two hundred yards below.

It was 4:06 o'clock in the afternoon when an alarm was sent in from box 23 and an engine 1 and hose 5 swung into Gorham street the blazing sheds in the rear of the grounds near the railroad tracks could be plainly seen. Several lines of hose were laid from a hydrant near the entrance to the grounds, but it required many extra lengths to reach where the fire was and then owing to the low pressure and the long pipe which the water had to flow through the stream on the fire was not a very large one, though the two lines with the assistance of the chemical did very effective work.

About one hundred feet of the shed was blazing when the department arrived, and it was only through the energetic work of the men that any part of the shed was saved from destruction.

While the fire of the fair grounds was burning fiercely, word was received that the sparks had communicated to the roof of the Molahan building and Chief Hooper, one of the hose companies and the chemical went to the scene and found the shingles on the roof burning in several places on both sides of the roof.

Several lines of hose were laid, and then the firemen encountered an unusual trouble. When the water was turned on in one of the lines very little came through the nozzle. One of the firemen unscrewed the nozzle and found a stone about as large as a por-

son's fist in the pipe. The stone was taken out and the nozzle re-attached. A small spray came this time and then the water stopped suddenly. The pipe was taken off again and another stone was found. Five stones were found at different times in this line while in another line two stones were found, all of which undoubtedly came from the hydrant.

But for the fact that the chemical was on hand and played on the roof of the burning building while the hosemen were taking out the stones, the place would have been destroyed and the big wooden buildings in the vicinity would have suffered.

President A. H. Chas. of the Middlesex North Agricultural society stated to a Sun reporter that the sheds were not insured. Mr. Molahan's property, however, is insured.

LEG CUT OFF

LITTLE BOY WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

BOSTON, June 2—With his right leg torn from his body and the left foot and ankle crushed, James Price, 6, son of John J. Price of 48 Pope street, East Boston, after having been run over by a freight train on the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. at the rear of his house, dragged himself for over 10 feet, to a point where he could attract attention. He was later removed to the Hotel hospital, where he died at 8:15 o'clock.

Young Price, in company with another boy named Donald O'Neill, ventured upon the unfenced track to play.

At the approach of a train, Price started to get off the track, but slipped and the train quickly struck him.

In spite of his shocking injury, the boy dragged himself to the side of the track nearest his home and cried for help.

THE EAGLES

WILL HAVE PERMANENT QUARTERS OF THEIR OWN.

The regular meeting of the Eagles held last evening was the largest attended session since the organization of the local Acle. The spirited contest for Acle physicians for the ensuing six months caused the great outpouring of members and when the votes were counted it was found that Dr. Daniel A. O'Hearn and Dr. Patrick E. Sullivan the present physicians had been selected. Junior P. W. P. James T. Doyle was chosen representative to the national convention which will be held in Denver, Col., in August. The degree was worked on nine candidates and six applications for membership were received. A delegation will visit Manchester next week and will take part in the field day of the Manchester Acle. A committee was appointed to arrange for the attendance of members at the New England field day which will be held in Providence in August. The most important business transacted was the appointment of a building site committee. It is the intention of the Eagles to secure quarters of their own, which will be centrally located. Visiting brethren were present from Gloucester, Boston, New Haven and Hallowell, Me. Following the business session there was a social session during which a fine musical and literary program was given.

Frank C. Goodale and Mrs. Goodale will start June 12 for Portland, Ore., to visit Mr. Goodale's uncle, Captain Joseph Shaden, formerly of Lowell. They will go to Montreal and then take the Union Pacific road. They will be gone three or four weeks and will visit North Dakota, Seattle, San Francisco and other places during the trip.

FORBES ESTATE HAS BOUGHT NASHAWENA.

BOSTON, June 2—In spite of the vigorous effort on the part of the state to obtain possession of Nashawena island as a site for the state prison, which it is proposed to remove from Charlestown, Governor Douglas' cherished plan has apparently come to nothing, as it is understood that Nashawena island was purchased yesterday by the Forbes estate, owners of the from the first has strenuously opposed neighboring island of Nausah, which the project to convert the island to a convict home and leper colony.

This move on the part of the Forbes interests effectually disposes of the project to establish the state prison at that locality, a project originating with Governor Douglas and carried almost to the point of success by the board of prison commissioners.

LOWELL LED FOR SEVEN INNINGS

Haverhill Found Bushey
for 14 Hits

Lowell almost won a game in Haverhill yesterday, being only one run short. They led for seven innings, but unfortunately the game went nine.

Haverhill tied the score in the eighth and in the ninth with Wallace on base.
Spencer hit over second for a single and the South Boston boy dug the earth all the way to the plate for the winning run. Bushey pitched for Lowell and they batted him about for 14 hits, while Lowell got off with 10 hits off Connolly, Billy Connors and Bible each getting two.

Rafferty made the star fielding play,
a catch in left field, while Billy Connors did some nice work at second base.

In the absence of Merritt Bible played first and Tierney right and both men did good work.

DIAMOND NOTES.

Lowell plays at Lynn today and tomorrow.

It's up to Lowell to get a move on and get into the first division at least.

Lynn shut Nashua out twice. Verily Lynn's unlucky streak has vanished and 'tis well.

Tierney plays right field as though he were on outfielder rather than a green at the position.

The Manchester police authorities have given John Smith, now a night police officer, permission to play ball with the Manchester team.

The team will return to Lowell from Lynn tonight and go back there on Saturday. The expense will be greater this way but the results will be better.

Poor Sherwood of Nashua is being shifted all over the lot. But he takes things good naturedly except fly balls in left field which he drops like hot bricks.

Manager Mack has written to Frostburg, Md., to a brother of Jimmy Jackson, Lowell's new outfielder, to come here for a try-out. The "Second" Jackson, who is younger than the present outfielder, is said to be "bang-up" catcher and is now playing professionally in Western Maryland. He is expected here in a few days.

Anderberg should be tried out as an emergency first baseman if another catcher is coming, as he has a good make-up for a first baseman, and it seems too bad to change the best outfield in the league, Bible, Grant and Jackson, as is necessary when Bible is called to first base.

June 1 has come with Arthur Mc-Govern still making good with the Boston Americans. According to the agreement made at the time of the sale of McGovern to the Americans,
"Terry" had to last until June 1, and he certainly did.

The Laconia, N. H., team with Joe Trotter and Tom Murphy of this city playing, defeated the Dartmouth Reserves Memorial day at Laconia.
Blake, a "varsity" twirler, pitched for the college boys and was touched up for 11 hits while Mathieu held the collegians down to two hits.

Fall River plays here on Monday and to use the term of the small boy ball players, the members have "swelled punks," since they got into the first division. And despite his good fortune, McDermott is still kicking over the decision of the league in that double-header game. Mac has the impression that the whole world is against him, poor man, and when 6500 people turned out to a game in Fall River Memorial day he was awfully disappointed because there weren't 7000.

The male members of the Huntington-De Deyn stock company, now playing at the opera house, are enthusiastic ball players, even to rotund
"Sully," and they have formed a ball team for the purpose of getting a little exercise in afternoons when there are no rehearsals or matinees. Tom Hoban in behalf of his pets, has challenged the actors and a lively game is planned in the near future. If they can play ball as good as they can act
we can see the finish of the Pets.

Mike Birmingham has been a bad boy; he vexed Umpire Stafford a few days ago and was put off the grounds.
Manager McDermott and Secretary
Morse have the case under consideration and it is not definitely known whether Michael will be compelled to water the grounds mornings or wear
"Mutt" Waters' suit in the game.
Punishment may be meted out, says
the secretary of the league. Guinan was due to be suspended also. The reason for this action in conjunction with the suspension of Birmingham

was because the team has developed such wonderful strength that it was deemed expedient to make a "week somewhere." The people who pay "two bits per" for each game ought to be considered; they are in for a real game of baseball with the most talent either in or out of trouble. The players themselves should be made to stand
the burden, but the patrons of the game should not suffer. Fall River Herald.

Mike is big enough and old enough to know that he mustn't monkey with the umpire.

AMATEUR BASE BALL

Friend Bros. team defeated the Lincoln Square Grangers yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 to 6. The game was interesting up to the final inning when Bennett, who pitches for the Lincolns, went to pieces and the Rakers scored eight runs. O'Laughlin pitched a good game for the Rakers.

The C. Y. M. E. baseball team will play the Sacred Hearts on the North common Saturday afternoon. A good game is expected.

The Wampanoag I. O. O. F. will meet the Wonders tomorrow afternoon at the end of Mammoth road. I am well met at 2:30. Game at 3.

Michael Flanagan, the well known amateur actor and musician, called at The Sun office, Tuesday, and stated positively that he is not coming out with the Cowboys, F. A. C.'s, Young Men's or any other amateur baseball team, and forbids the use of his name in connection with such. Henceforth we will not print any communications that take Mr. Flanagan's name in vain. We thought it strange that such an excellent actor should spend his vacation in connection with the boys on the common and we much pleased to know the truth of the matter. Mr. Flanagan threatened to borrow a cannon and blow the office to pieces if we again appear in the baseball column but we assure the youth-men that we will never touch anyone named John I.
Flanagan. He has also written us that the report to the effect that he gave the Cowboys' game to buy balls and bats is untrue as he needs all his spare cash to purchase railroads and other toys for his children.

BOXING GOSSIP

Talking about gamblers among fighters" said an old-time sporting man the other day, "gamblers are one of the fact that some fighters can take more punishment than others. Some of the very greatest fighters we have had in
the ring could be killed over by the slightest blow on the jaw. It's funny how differently constituted are the punches.

"First of all, we'll take Lavigne.
When the Saginaw kid was himself
he could take more punishment than any two or three men in his class. He demonstrated the fact when he first met Joe. Went out at Mappert. The colored fighter at that time was succeeding exactly nothing for the first part of the battle, then came back strong, and
had the contest gone a few rounds further would have knocked Walcott out. It must be remembered that the statements of the contest were that Walcott was to knock out Lavigne in five or ten rounds. George took an awful beating from Mysterioso Billy Smith in San Francisco, and only stopped when his brother threw in "the sponge" in token of defeat. Then he cried out loud and said, "Billy, what made you do that? I could have won."

"For topnotchers, Chavnick and Flitzschman are the saddest fumbled over. This is especially true concerning the former. The slightest kind of a jab on the jaw will put Chavnick down and out, and he has lost contests that he had seemingly as if in hand by just such an accident. When he fought Mayer in New York he had the Irish champion on the ropes all but out.

Mayer's backers were ready to give up
the contest, when suddenly Peter took a dying chance, swung his right to Jack's jaw, and the battle was over.

"When Chavnick went to Australia
he had Joe Goldard whipped to a frazzle and all but out on two occasions, then he became careless, and a single blow from Goldard put him down and out in both fights.

"The same is almost true of Flitzschman. He goes down very easily.
Chavnick and him down in Boston for the count of nine. Mayer had him all but out. Hall sent him to the mat and Chavnick did likewise, to say nothing of Corbett doing the same thing in their Carson City fight, and Jettison was the only one to knock him out, in that fight at Carson Island. Yet how Flitz could hit himself was a caution.

"About twenty years ago, when boxing was flourishing at the old Theatre Company in Philadelphia, and "Sard" were engaged by the week to meet all comers, there was a tough proposition
in the Quaker City named Mike Boden.
He will be recalled by the old-timers.
No fighter that ever came to the Company was able to knock Mike out, and he faced Kilian, Jack Burke,

Jack Dempsey, John Gloc, Pat Killian,
Jack Fallon and Jack Ashton, each twice during the weeks they were there, and could not be put out. He seemed to be able to take all the blows
that were sent his way without flinching.
He did the same thing in Chicago against Chavnick and Jim Hall.
Now they've got another tough one in Joe Grinn, of this city. It seems unaccountable why that fellow cannot be knocked out.

"I have always contended that every man could be knocked out if he was hit in the right spot with proper force,
but Grinn sort of disposes that statement. Watch and see Grinn get his before long. Sharkey used to say no man could be knocked out, and that fighters who made believe they were knocked out were "quitters." But Thomas soon became convinced differ-ently after Rutillo, and Fitzsimmons got through with him, and now he will tell you that any man in the world can be made to take the count.

"Jim Corbett is a hard man to knock out. Not that he is noted for taking a great amount of punishment, but because he is so clever that he is always going away from a punch. In that manner he breaks the force of the
blow and does not receive its full effect. But it does seem strange how slight a blow will put some fighters
on "Quiver Street," while others can almost withstand the blow of a sledgehammer."

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Commencement Exercises Held This Afternoon

The commencement exercises of the Lowell Textile school were held in the assembly hall this afternoon. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, the attendance was large and the papers and addresses interesting. Hubbard's orchestra furnished the music. The New England cotton manufacturing association was awarded to Henry Shaw Adams of Haverhill, a young man who has practically worked his way through the school. One of the ways in which he succeeded in earning a dollar was by serving the students with lunch at noon. He is ambitious, clever and persevering. The medal was awarded him by the following committee: Mr. George E. Ames of the Lowell Manufacturing company, A. H. Morton of the Kilson company and Mr. Thibault of the Boott corporation. Only those who took the cotton manufacturing course competed for the medal. Students in the woolen, designing and chemistry departments did not enter into the contest. The program for the commencement exercises was as follows:

Music.....Hubbard's Orchestra
Thesis Abstract: "The Effect of Doubling upon the Fineness and Strength of Cotton Yarn."

Thesis Abstract: "The Effect of Pitch of Screw of Sewing Machine Upon Size and Shape of Filling Bobbin."

Thesis Abstract: "Arrangement in Jacquard Designing."
Thesis Abstract: "Chemical Nature and Composition of Wool Fibre."

Address.....Mr. Sidney B. Palmer
Presentation of N. E. Cotton Mills.
Medal.....Mr. Geo. E. Ames
Address.....Pres. A. G. Cunnock Presentation of Diplomas.

Principal Wm. W. Crosby
Mr. Palmer's address was a very interesting one. He said in part:

"Time forbids me to go into any general description of this system, nor yet to dwell upon the many advantages which it offers over the mechanical system. More than 10 per cent. of the power used in the cotton, woolen, worsted and silk mills in this country is now supplied through motors. The day has gone by when any well informed man will question the many points of superiority which it offers over the older rival. With the advent of the steam turbine, a new mill of large size cannot afford to adopt the old-fashioned method, while to the old mill the simplicity of the electric drive affords a relief from many wasteful and complicated arrangements."

I shall use the time allotted to me in discussing one of the many questions which the engineer must settle in laying out a mill or in the electric drive, viz: shall the machinery be driven in groups by comparatively large motors, or shall each machine be driven by its own individual motor? The latter seems to be the ideal system from a theoretical standpoint. It avoids the use of all shafting, hangers, pulleys and belts. It gives a much lighter and cleaner room. The motor is stopped at the same time as the machine which it drives. This system has been quite generally adopted in large machine shops and its advocates have used this fact as an argument for its adoption in textile mills. They forget, however, that the conditions are quite different in the shop and in the mill. In a machine shop the load factor is seldom 50 per cent., and often falls below 40 per cent. This low load factor of the shop has been one of the reasons why the individual drive has been adopted in such establishments. Each motor must be large enough on either system, for its maximum duty. With the individual drive the proper size of motor will depend upon the requirements of the machine to be driven thereby. On account of the intermittent service found in the machine shop, it would be safe to assume that at times the motor would be considerably overloaded. On the other hand it would be very difficult to determine the most suitable capacity of the motor on the group system, on account of the wide variation in the number of machines in operation. A motor large enough to drive all the machines in a given group would work very inefficiently a majority of the time. Moreover, all the shafting would have to be driven when only one machine was in operation. In a textile mill, however, the load factor is seldom less than 50 per cent., and in ring spinning rooms a load factor of 80 per cent. to 85 per cent. is not uncommon. Under these conditions, a motor large enough to drive all the machines would operate at practically its maximum efficiency at all times. The group system under textile mill conditions also permits the use of a motor large enough only for the average demand, for this is very constant. Consequently a mill equipped with the group system would require a less aggregate capacity in the motors than if the individual drive were adopted. In spite of the losses in shafting and belt- ing, for it is not safe to assume that two smaller machines require the same amount of power. Several years ago I tested in spinning frame containing 225 spindles running 5200 revolutions and spinning No. 28 yarn. The power required was 2½ horse power. A little later I tested what appeared to be an identical frame, but the power required was over five horse power. Examination showed that the burs were extremely tight and that the gears were filled with lint and dirt. On a large group these differences would equalize themselves, while on the direct system the maximum demand on each frame must be considered carefully, for on account of the uniform load upon the motor during a long period, it will be unable to depend for normal service upon the overload capacity."

SPINDLE TESTED.
In most mills a certain number of frames are run interchangeably on warp and filling. On such frames the direct connected motor must be of sufficient size to provide power for the warp frame.

New spindles have been tested which permit a much higher speed than formerly.

I saw one of these spindles tested a few weeks ago at a speed of 4500 revolutions.

The spindle ran perfectly true and without a tremor. Of course this speed is too high for practical purposes as the front roll cannot be run at a corresponding speed. I did see, however, a frame of 236 of these spindles running at 12000 revolutions per minute, spinning No. 32 yarn with filling twist, the front roll having a speed of 190 revolutions per minute.

Egyptian cotton having 14-inch staple was used, the yarn being spun from 10 to 16 hanks. The production on this frame will average better than two pounds per spindle per week.

This spindle was invented by Mr. J. C. Potter of Pawtucket, the spindle being introduced by the American Spindle company of that city.

Such high speed spindles must require considerably more power than the spindles ordinarily found in cotton mills.

If the individual drive had been used, a larger motor would have to be substituted on such frames as were changed over, and the old motors would have to be sold at a sacrifice.

With the group system, an additional motor would be installed to take care of the increased demand, the former drive remaining untouched except that possibly a wider belt would be used.

The tendency to increase speeds is universal and the inflexibility of the individual drive offers a marked contrast to the ease with which the group drive can meet the new conditions.

The principal reason for the adoption of the individual drive in the machine shop has been the facility which the continuous current motor affords for varying the speed on the machine. A constant cutting speed may be maintained on the lathe by increasing the speed as the cut deepens. On lathes or milling machines a higher speed may be used on a light cut and a slower speed on a heavy cut. But the continuous current motor is unsuitable for obtaining the best results in a textile mill. Variations from a given speed are required only at comparatively long intervals, and the more nearly uniform the speed, when once determined, the better the quality and the greater the product. On account of its construction and characteristics, the continuous current motor cannot maintain a fixed speed for any length of time. Variations in electrical pressure (voltage) affect the speed. The speed rises under constant load due to heating of the field winding; therefore the motor cannot start in the morning at the maximum speed permissible and the production is correspondingly affected. For these reasons the induction motor is used, the speed of which is not affected by voltage nor heating. Its speed cannot be changed by any economical method at present on the market. But on spinning frames such change must be made at times. For this reason the direct drive has not been used in textile mills to any extent.

Undoubtedly there may be isolated cases even in a textile mill where the individual drive may offer such advantages as to warrant its adoption. The majority of silk looms in this country which are electrically driven are using this system. There are several reasons for this. The value of the fabric is so great that the first cost of minor importance. If any appreciable gain may be made in the quantity and quality of the goods produced, moreover silk looms are stopped much more frequently than cotton or woolen looms. The silk manufacturer cannot afford to use overhead shafting in his weave shop. A drop of oil would ruin the fabric and even the lint which would be circulated by the belts might cause a second. Silk weaving is a comparatively new industry in this country. In Europe the weave sheds are of one story and most of them have no basement, the floor being made of concrete or stone. Under these conditions it would be impracticable to belt through the floor, in this country where the floors can be made of wood and where the loom can be supported on pillars, such a plan could be followed, but the foreign methods of construction have been followed very generally wherever the industry has been introduced. I have yet to find, however, the first cotton or woolen weaver who would entertain this idea of driving his loom by the direct system.

All the problems connected with the use of the electric drive in textile mills have not yet been settled. New machines and improvements of present machines will doubtless introduce new conditions which may modify the methods of driving which we now follow. I have endeavored to present the two systems without prejudice and have indicated the reasons why the group system has been preferred thus far to the individual drive.

In closing I wish to express my appreciation of the honor conferred upon me by your president in inviting me to speak to you upon this subject. Today you graduate from this school, but your education is by no means completed. You are yet to test your powers in actual conflict. Your teachers have faithfully and earnestly trained you, but the responsibility is now shifted to your own shoulders. Profit by the future, so fill every condition that a larger berth must be found for you;

Principal Crosby was pleasantly surprised by the instructors of the school who called upon him at his office during the forenoon and presented him a beautiful Knights Templar charm. The presentation was by Mr. Fenwick Tinsley and words of thanks and appreciation were spoken by Mr. Crosby, spoken by Mr. Crosby.

permissible and the production is correspondingly affected. For these reasons the induction motor is used, the speed of which is not affected by voltage nor heating. Its speed cannot be changed by any economical method at present on the market. But on spinning frames such change must be made at times. For this reason the direct drive has not been used in textile mills to any extent.

Undoubtedly there may be isolated cases even in a textile mill where the individual drive may offer such advantages as to warrant its adoption. The majority of silk looms in this country which are electrically driven are using this system. There are several reasons for this. The value of the fabric is so great that the first cost of minor importance. If any appreciable gain may be made in the quantity and quality of the goods produced, moreover silk looms are stopped much more frequently than cotton or woolen looms. The silk manufacturer cannot afford to use overhead shafting in his weave shop. A drop of oil would ruin the fabric and even the lint which would be circulated by the belts might cause a second. Silk weaving is a comparatively new industry in this country. In Europe the weave sheds are of one story and most of them have no basement, the floor being made of concrete or stone. Under these conditions it would be impracticable to belt through the floor, in this country where the floors can be made of wood and where the loom can be supported on pillars, such a plan could be followed, but the foreign methods of construction have been followed very generally wherever the industry has been introduced. I have yet to find, however, the first cotton or woolen weaver who would entertain this idea of driving his loom by the direct system.

All the problems connected with the use of the electric drive in textile mills have not yet been settled. New machines and improvements of present machines will doubtless introduce new conditions which may modify the methods of driving which we now follow. I have endeavored to present the two systems without prejudice and have indicated the reasons why the group system has been preferred thus far to the individual drive.

In closing I wish to express my appreciation of the honor conferred upon me by your president in inviting me to speak to you upon this subject. SCENE OF SPLENDOR

President Opens the Lewis and Clark Exposition

PORTLAND, Ore., June 1.—A scene of festivity and splendor never equaled in the Pacific northwest, with din and clamor of cheering thousands, accompanied by the booming of artillery, the chiming of bells and the blaring of bands, Portland today made her greatest bow to the world in the formal opening of the Lewis & Clark centennial exposition. The event took place under conditions presaging complete success to this historical commemoration of the blazing of the trail to "old Oregon" by Captain Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, who completed by President Jefferson, explored the great Oregon country 100 years ago.

Today's celebration was participated in by the president of the United States and his personal representative, Charles W. Fairbanks; representatives of the state and of the house of representatives of the national congress; the army and navy, together with the governors and staffs of the states of California, Idaho, Washington and Oregon and multitudes of people from far and near.

FINE DECORATIONS.
All Portland was decked in her best, business was suspended and the holiday spirit was everywhere in evidence.

TROOPS ON HAND.
Everything being in readiness, at 11:45 o'clock Vice President Fairbanks and party emerged from the New York state building receiving the vice presidential salute of 18 guns. Flanked on either side by a line of troops, the party walked to the speakers' stand.

EXERCISES OPENED.
Promptly at 12 o'clock, noon, President H. W. Goode, of the exposition, across and gavel in hand, announced the beginning of the ceremonies which meant the realization of Portland's dream. The announcement was received with tremendous cheering which echoed back and forth through the crowd for several minutes. As the echo died away the Right Hon. David H. Moore, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, stepping to the front of the platform, raised his hands and invoked the divine blessing. A perceptible stillness prevailed in the vast throng as the prayer was spoken.

The impressive silence which followed the prayer was broken by the inspiring strains of "Imperial Oregon," a march, was played by the band.

GOVERNOR SPOKE.
Following President Goode's address

Governor George Chamberlain of the state of Oregon was introduced. Hon. Jefferson B. Davis, president of the Lewis and Clark centennial committee of the state of Oregon, was enthusiastically applauded when he took his position on the rostrum, to address the people on behalf of the committee.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.
Perhaps the most enthusiastic applause which greeted any of the notable speakers was accorded Hon. George H. Williams, the mayor of the city of Portland, whose 32 years of life have not sapped the vigor of his youth nor detracted from his ability as a public speaker.

Hon. Clarence D. Clark, of Wyoming, representing the United States senate was to extend felicitations upon the opening of the exposition.

Hon. James A. Tawney followed Senator Clark on behalf of the federal house of representatives.

The congratulations and felicitations of the various departments of the United States government upon the completion of the exposition were expressed by Hon. H. A. Taylor, first assistant secretary of the treasury and chairman of the United States government board.

Hon. Joseph F. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives in his apt way brought out the greatness of the exposition and the sentiment for which it stands.

The noted humor of the speaker was several times made apparent during his discourse, the orator being obliged to cease talking several times to permit the hand clapping to die down.

ORATION TO FAIRBANKS.
At this period of the program the steadily increasing enthusiasm of the multitude found expression in a tremendous ovation to Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, the personal representative of the president of the United States.

The presidential salute of twenty-one guns was the signal to the impromptu throng that the moment for the opening of the exposition was at hand. Upon a telegraph operator, seated at an instrument on the speakers' stand, the eyes of the multitude were riveted, and while the guns were still booming, the movement of his hand at the key was a sufficient indication to the watchers that President Roosevelt was being advised that all was in readiness to receive the signal from the White House which would formally open the exposition.

Then followed a wait of several minutes marked by an impressive stillness, during which eye and ear was strained to catch the first move of the operator's hand or a sound from the telegraph instrument. Suddenly out of the quiet came a faint electric flash, the signal of the signal, and Oregon's greatest hour had come.

Almost simultaneously with the clicking of the telegraph instrument President Goode's gavel fell and he proclaimed the exposition open.

FRANCE INTERVENES

Said to Have Urged Russia to Make Peace

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—7.10 p. m. An evening paper today printed a sensational story from a Paris correspondent saying he was in a position to state that after the passage of many telegrams last night between the French office and the French embassy here, M. Bompard, the French ambassador, is returning hastily to St. Petersburg from Paris, where he has been on leave of absence, at the request of Russia to arrange for peace negotiations, France having agreed if Japan's terms are too onerous, to undertake to ask the consent of all the powers to compel both powers to mediate.

At both the foreign office and the French embassy the story was denied, but there is reason to believe that M. Bompard is bringing a direct message from Foreign Minister Delcasse urging Russia to make peace.

THREATS HEARD

LIBERALS DECIDE IT IS TIME TO STRIKE.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—The immediate realization of the imperial reforms seems the only thing which can save the government from the wrath of the populace. The truth is now known to the humbler people in the capital and will soon spread through the empire and the mutterings of the people are certain to have an ominous effect on the army at the front. It is feared that the revolutionists and socialists are planning to take advantage of the government's discomfiture by inciting demonstrations and a renewal of strikes. As a precaution more guard regiments have been ordered back from camp and additional Cossack reinforcements have been brought to St. Petersburg. The liberals also consider that the government is at last in a corner and that the time has come to strike. Their press no longer asks—it threatens. The Slovo this morning menaces the government boldly, declaring that if it does not give what the people need the latter will take it.

The paper holds up the spectre of another Cugachev, the famous Cossack who for years led the insurrection against the Empress Catherine.

LOWELL MAN

ADDRESSED SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Lawrence District Sunday School Superintendents' association was held Wednesday evening at the United Presbyterian church, Lawrence and the evening was one of much benefit to the superintendents of the district, 12 of whom were present. Several teachers and other specially invited guests were on hand.

The address of Rev. James Craig of Lowell was the principal one. He spoke briefly and right to the point on the subject "Bible Study Necessary for Spiritual Growth." He gave many valuable suggestions.

The address of Rev. William Woods and Prof. Edward S. Riley of the High school, and Mrs. Margaret Ridgely, were all of much value to the gathering.

Miss Jessie Welch was the pianist. The following officers were elected for

BOSTON, June 1.—James Benjamin, 50 years of age, took a dose of hydrochloric acid yesterday afternoon and died at the City hospital early last evening. Benjamin returned to his home, 34 Ward street, Roxbury, about 1:30 o'clock, and went to his bedroom. Shortly after, his wife, hearing his cries for help, and thinking he had delirium tremens, called in the police. The man was sent to the City hospital in the police ambulance.

It is thought that he took the acid by mistake. He had not been working for some time, owing to ill-health, and was formerly employed as a janitor. He leaves a widow and eight children.

FROM YESTERDAY'S LATE EDITION

BRIDEGROOMS GONE

Two Local Weddings are Indefinitely Postponed

Gossips in the vicinity of ward two are discussing today the strange developments in a little love affair which was to have culminated in a marriage service, this afternoon, as the result of the marriage being postponed on account of the sudden departure of the prospective groom from the city, a few days ago, after all arrangements for the marriage had been made.

The bride in the case is a beautiful and talented young person, aged 17, and the prospective groom a travelling man, aged 25 years, whose home is in New York but who has been working with a company doing a big contract in this city.

The young man, it is said, lived for a time at the home of the bride and made such a favorable impression upon the mother of his sweetheart that she readily agreed to give her consent to the marriage of the young people, and a marriage license was taken out about one week ago, when all preparations were made for the marriage and the girl who was employed as a stenographer gave up her position. A few days ago, however, the young man informed his sweetheart that he would have to go out of the city for a few days, to the bedside of a sick relative. He went but has not yet returned, and as there was no prospect of him returning in time for the marriage today that event was indefinitely postponed. All sorts of wild stories have been circulated in relation to the disappearance of the groom, mostly of a sensational order.

And still another similar case interests the gossips of ward six where the missing bridegroom lives, and would seem, where the bride is employed as a domestic. In this case a marriage license was taken out not long ago and preparations were made for the wedding. A few days ago the young man asked out for the day from his work, and has not returned since. A few days afterward, a relative of the missing man called at the place where he was employed and removed his belongings, stating that he was out of town and would not return.

HOPEDALE FIRM

Financial Merger of Machine Plants

It has been stated on what is believed to be very good authority that the Draper Corporation in Hopedale, Mass., is at the head of and furnished the money and brains for the merger of the cotton machinery plants, including the Kitson and Lowell Machine shops.

The authority responsible for the above statement is a man well versed in real estate transactions and mill affairs. Another statement by him is to the effect that plans have been perfected for the absorption of the Middlesex mills in this city by the American Woolen company.

FIGHTING SHIPS

ALL WERE LOST

TOKIO, May 30, p. m.—(Delayed in transmission).—Admiral Togo's complete report which reached the navy department this afternoon makes the Russian defeat a staggering disaster unequalled in naval history.

Practically every fighting ship of a once splendid fleet was either sunk or captured, representing a loss of tonnage exceeding 150,000 tons. The remaining units of the fleet consisting largely of auxiliaries and transports have been dispersed, some going to Vladivostok, others to the China coast.

Admiral Rojestvensky, gravely wounded, occupies a cot in a Japanese hospital, a prisoner of war.

Tokio, astounded at the first measure of victory, seems to be unable to clearly grasp the still greater triumph that Admiral Togo brings to the nation.

Before the combat a partial victory with operations around Vladivostok during the summer was generally expected.

No one dreamed of annihilation at the first meeting. Later reports indicate that the fighting was of the most desperate nature. On Saturday and Sunday there were persistent torpedo attacks following heavy gun fighting. Admiral Rojestvensky appears to have been hopelessly outclassed in gunnery. It is reported that it was necessary for Admiral Rojestvensky to change his flagship five times during the battle.

He finally took refuge on the torpedo boat destroyer where he was captured. Admiral Togo's later dispatches given to the public early this evening created the highest enthusiasm. High officers of the army and prominent officials hurried to the navy department and offered congratulations.

The entire staff of the Bank of Japan, headed by a band, marched to the navy department and cheered in honor of the victory.

PAROLE TERMS

FOR RUSSIANS

TOKIO, June 1, p. m.—It is understood that the emperor intends to direct that the Russian officers captured at the naval battle of the sea of Japan on May 27 be given terms of parole, identical with those granted the army officers taken at the surrender of Port Arthur.

An officer of the Russian battleship, the Borodino, brought as a prisoner to the Russian navy yard says that while Vice Admiral Rojestvensky had raised his flag on the battleship Khabz Boucouff he was really on board of the Borodino during the action. When the Borodino was sinking he boarded the Russian destroyer Polonoia which was eventually captured by the Japanese.

CZAR'S MESSAGE TO ALEXIEFF
ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—It is learned that Admiral Alexieff, president of the committee on Eastern affairs in January, 1901, telegraphed to Admiral Alexieff, then viceroy in the Far East, an epitome of the emperor's views as expressed to Admiral Alexieff in numerous audiences. The emperor considered that every year of peace gained was of enormous importance to Russia and, therefore, though not yielding on essential points, Alexieff should do his utmost to avoid war and that he should be firm, but courteous while not sticking for unimportant details. There could, however, the emperor said, be no discussion with Japan or any other power about Manchuria. Russia would not regard Japanese occupation of Korea as a cause for war. On the contrary such occupation would be advantageous to Russia, because it would prevent Japan of the violation of all international law.

7000 RUSSIANS STILL MISSING
TOKIO, June 1.—Rough estimates made of the Russian losses in the battle fought in the sea of Japan exclusive of nearly 4000 prisoners, vary from 7000 to 9000. It is feared that the majority perished. Calculating the complements of the sunken and captured vessels at upwards of 10,000, 7000 men remain unaccounted for. It is possible that the ships which escaped rescued some of the members of the crews of the less fortunate ships. Many bodies have been washed ashore on the islands and on the shores of the neighboring coasts near the scene of the battle.

RUSSIAN ADMIRAL KILLED IN BATTLE
WASHINGTON, June 1.—The state department has received a despatch from Minister Girescu at Tokyo stating that it has been officially announced that Admiral Voikorsky was killed and not captured as previously reported to the department.

BODY FOUND
CAPTAIN HILLEN DROWNED IN PROVIDENCE RIVER.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 1.—The body of Captain Frank Hillen of the Rockland, Me., coasting schooner M. H. Read was found floating in the Providence river today. It is believed that Hillen fell overboard by accident and that he was the man who was seen in the river by a police officer about a week ago, who drowned before he could be rescued.

Hillen's home was at Thomaston, Me., where his widow now resides.

BRIBERY CHARGE

Big Money Offered for Ordering Strike

CHICAGO, June 2.—Charges of bribery against an officer of the United States army were made yesterday before a grand jury by the United States attorney, who said that they were offered $10,000 two years ago to bring about a strike of the transfusers employed by the United States army, which is a civil servant of the United States army, and if the transfusers were never called "Young gave the money to the men offering the money but refused after leaving the jury room to discuss what had taken place."

State Attorney Healy declared that all persons connected with the inquiry had been sworn to secrecy and nothing of the proceedings would be revealed.

SMITH GIRLS
MUST BE COUNTED SAYS CENSUS DEPARTMENT.

NORHAMPTON, Mass., June 2.—The census of the college girls to answer the questions of the state census enumerators resulted yesterday in the adoption by the state department of female measures. There are 105 young women students in the college and their enumeration was supposed to begin May 1.

The regular enumeration, a male, appointed for ward two, in which the college is located, was a week and counted practically in progress. The department then appointed five special enumerators from among the young women students in the belief that they would be able to secure the necessary data.

They have failed and yesterday Chief Inspector Eugene V. Towe of Boston, Mass., accompanied by C. Clark, chief of the Boston assistants, last night they called on David E. Hoxie, inspector of department K, and two regular male enumerators, and the five will start out at 7 o'clock Thursday morning either to take the college census or enforce the law. The hour is early for most of the college girls, but Chief Inspector Towe says they will be requested to get up a few days ago to attend to the census of the college would be completed by Saturday night.

THE FLEA IS BLAMED FOR SPREAD OF SMALLPOX.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The flea is a small animal, but like the Japanese his ability to make trouble for big ships seems unlimited. The flea which dwells on the Pacific Mail liner City of Peru, arriving yesterday morning from Panama, were particularly busy. As a result of their operations, three of the passengers, Mrs. Emma Schneider, and the two daughters of Louis Hirsch of Castle Rock, sought the ship's surgeon's advice.

The doctor examined small red spots with which their bodies were covered and declared that they had smallpox. The boarding surgeon shared the alarm of the ship's doctor and a tug was sent for Chief Surgeon Cummings at Angel Island. The three medical men held a consultation and Dr. Cummings believes the honor of finding out the secret of the flea.

He saved the quarantine records from ridicule by declaring the passengers were afflicted with a "paralytic disease." The flea delayed the vessel in docking the entire forenoon.

GREEKS ORGANIZE
BIG ASSOCIATION RECENTLY FORMED HERE.

The nucleus for what may prove to be one of the largest Greek associations in the United States was laid in this city a few days ago. Several hundred Greeks held a meeting at the Greek church and organized an association that will have for its aim the moral and material support of its members.

The Greek lawyer, Constantine Chikouras was the unanimous choice for chairman and the choice was a good one. He is a hustler and is very much interested in his compatriots in this city. He looks forward to a large and sudden growth in membership. A committee on by-laws and other committees will report at the next meeting.

BIG DEFICIT
RURAL FREE DELIVERY IS THE CAUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—When Postmaster General Cortelyou comes to balance the postoffice department books at the end of the current fiscal year, he will be compelled to put on the "pink side of the ledger the biggest deficit in the history of the postal service. An estimate based upon the returns for the first three quarters of the current fiscal year, shows that the department will run behind in the 12 months ending June 30 at least $15,000,000. Only twice before has the postal deficit approached these figures, when, in 1897, and 1898, it was a little more than $10,000,000.

The excess expenditures over earnings this year is attributed to the large expenditures for rural free delivery and the tremendous growth of the service generally, with a consequent proportionate increase in the cost of maintenance. From 1895 to 1902 there was a steady decline in the annual deficit, the lowest water mark being reached in the latter year, when the deficit was less than $2,000,000. In 1903, however, the deficit began to climb, and in that fiscal year it amounted to $1,550,000, and in 1904 to $3,812,000.

Rural free delivery will cost this year about $20,000,000, and it is in this large sum that the postal authorities lay the principal blame for the excess of expenditures over receipts. The amount of unprofitable matter carried by the railroads upon which Uncle Sam loses large amounts annually is given as an additional reason, and still another drain on the revenues of the postal service which was felt more this year than at any time before is due to the change in the manner of administering the star route service.

City free delivery has also greatly increased in cost, as it has been extended to communities that have not

WED WIDOW

DAUGHTER WANTS AGED FATHER'S MARRIAGE ANNULLED.

DEBHAM, June 2.—Another step in the Sanders family trouble, the outcome of the marriage at Providence, March 15, 1904, of Charles C. Sanders, now aged 55 years, of Oakdale, and Mrs. Carrie L. Johnson, a widow of 45 years, has been taken by the daughter, with the clerk of courts of Norfolk county of a bill for an annulment, on the ground that Mr. Sanders was insane at the time and the victim of undue influence on the part of the wife.

The bill is filed by Mrs. Ella A. Chase, the only daughter of Sanders, who, up to the time of her father's marriage, was his housekeeper and took care of him. She filed it in the name of her father, as his only child or his next friend.

STRUCK A HORSE
THAT WAS TRYING TO GET OUT OF THE WAY.

A valuable horse belonging to Martin Homan of 79 Gorham street, was struck by an electric car on the afternoon of Memorial day and badly hurt. The horse was crossing the street to avoid contact with a car coming to Lowell and was struck by a car going in the opposite direction. The horse was attached to a light wagon and there was no one in the team when the accident occurred.

Two men who witnessed the accident thought that the motorcar on the car going out must have stopped his car in time to prevent it. The horse was cut and the wagon smashed.

MAN KILLED
CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER WHEELS OF WAGON.

BOSTON, June 2.—Speeding against death, the ambulance from police station 4 dashed across the city last night from the South Terminal station in an effort to reach the hospital before Alexander Butte, a married man, living at 35 Conant street, should die.

When the horse pulled up at the relief hospital the doctors pronounced the man dead, the victim of a horrible accident. The horse had outsped the old ambulance horse.

Butte was driving a two-horse wagon past the South station when a wheel got caught in the street car tracks. The wagon slewed, Butte fell between the horses, was kicked in the head, and then the two wheels on one side of the wagon ran directly over his head. His skull was crushed.

IS THE PRESIDENT SCARED?

President Roosevelt believes that the victory of Togo over the Russians confirms his theory that a great fleet is the first requisite of national peace. Both Russia and Japan seemed to be well prepared for peace in this respect before the war started. The president evidently sees fresh danger in the orient.

That is a very pitiful case in Chelmsford in which an evicted family had to make their abiding place in a pasture even while the town was jubilating in its 250th anniversary. The selectman who permitted such a condition to exist in the town is not to be envied for his human sympathy.

THE KIND OF A HALL WE NEED.

Commander Thissell, in his campaign speech after the parade on Memorial Day, made the statement that Lowell should have a public hall that would accommodate 5000 people if necessary. That, indeed, would be a great public convenience. If we ever build a public hall, we should have a good one, one that would be a credit to the city, one in which there would be the greatest possible security and the greatest facility for escape in an emergency. These requisites can be attained only where the building is enclosed on all sides by public streets.

THE SPIT BALL UNDER THE BAN.

The Newark, N. J., board of health has sounded a note of warning in regard to the danger to the public and private health from the spit ball on the ball field—something that has utterly escaped the notice of our local board of health.

The twirlers who use this method of greasing the ball before its projection upon its devious course will have to change their tactics, at least in Newark. The spitball, coated sphere is regarded as a messenger of disease from pitcher to catcher, from catcher to basemen and outfielders; and it is to be presumed that when the ball is met squarely by the bat there is a dispersion of infinitesimal germs somewhat resembling the radiation of rays from a common centre, thus transmuting to the infinitude of atmospheric conductivity the salivary contaminating bacteriological atoms of consumption and tuberculosis to the destructibility of cellular tissue in the bronchial organism of the individual in which they may find the proper germinating susceptibility.

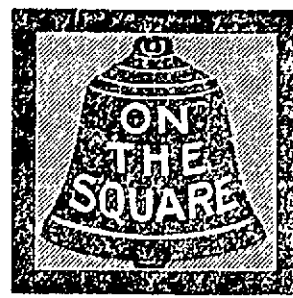

Who can deny that the Newark board of health has made a most important discovery and taken most effective steps to prevent the worst consequences—the extinction of the ball toomer and the abandonment of the game. Truly a national calamity has been averted. Now that the Newark board of health has saved the country from the dangers of the spit ball, it might be well for somebody to inform its members that another danger almost equally great threatens, and let this distinguished body give the world a saving thesis on the origin, cause and cure of cerebro-spinal meningitis.

Contest Over Will of a Wealthy Bachelor

ALFRED. Me., June 2.—The contest over the will of Augustus B. Stomman, the wealthy Saco bachelor, who left his estate to his boarding mistress, Mrs. Emily Darville, may not be concluded this week, though Judge Peabody yesterday began evening sessions in order to expedite matters. It is anticipated that the examination of the Darville family will occupy the greater part of a day, and nearly as much time will be needed for the medical experts. If the trial is not concluded Saturday night, an adjournment will probably be taken until after the close of the law term sitting in July. Yesterday's session began with a somewhat sensational acknowledgment in relation to the disposition of $2700.

which Mr. Stomman drew from savings banks in August and Bangor a few months before his death. Judge Cleaves of the probate court announced that Mr. Stomman retained possession of this money, except about $300 he paid out, until his death, and that then, in compliance with his oral request, Mrs. Darville took charge of it. "Does she claim it as a gift from him?" Mr. Hinson of the contestant's counsel asked. Judge Cleaves replied that he could not say what Mrs. Darville's claim is regarding it.

The prima facie evidence in support of the will having been concluded, the contestant's side of the case was opened yesterday, and 10 or 12 witnesses were examined. The sole allegation on which the contest is based is that the testator was under control of Mrs. Darville when the will was made.

MAYOR WOOD

SAYS HE DID NOT PLAY THE RACES.

Haverhill, June 2.—Walter S. Hodgdon presented a communication to the aldermen last evening in which he asked the board to investigate the rumor that Mayor Wood lost $100 on his horse in a race at the quarter-mile speedway at Riverside park, May 27, and if the allegation was true to remove the mayor from office.

The aldermen previous to the public session read the communication and when it was reached in the order of business it was received without reading.

After the meeting Mayor Wood denied the charge, saying that if anyone saw him bet a cent on a horse race he could see white blackbirds.

FOUR WEALTHY CHINESE NOT ALLOWED TO LAND.

BOSTON, June 2.—Four Chinese, three brothers and their sister, members of the wealthiest, most highly cultured and refined classes of the Flowery Kingdom, were held up in this city yesterday upon the arrival of the steamship Ivernia, and in spite of the fact that one of their relatives in Shanghai is governor of the province, and others are owners of some of the richest banks in the east, they were obliged to have their photographs taken, furnish a bond and spend the night on the Ivernia instead of in a fashionable hotel, just as any ordinary Chinese laundryman might.

The names of these people are K. T. King, Z. D. King, S. G. King and Miss T. King; and although they were armed with passports and a letter of introduction from former Ambassador Choate, they could not evade the strict requirements of the Chinese immigration laws, in convenient as they found them to be.

GIRLS GRADUATED

At the Rogers Hall School Yesterday

Commencement exercises were held at the Rogers Hall school yesterday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock. June flowers and blossoms made beautiful the occasion, where the exercises were held and the pretty girls in their immaculate gowns completed a handsome picture. The following received in the drawing room:

Mrs. E. P. Underhill, M. A., principal; Mrs. Charles A. Stott, Mrs. E. T. Greenhalgh, Mrs. A. G. Pollard, Mrs. A. St. John Chamber, Mrs. Franklin Nourse, Mrs. Frederick Lawton, Mrs. J. P. Savage and the graduates of 1905. The drawing room was given by Miss Helen Prudden, Miss Lida Ponda, Miss Mary Whitmer, Miss Margarette Holbrook, Miss Mollie French, Miss Harlette Johnson and Miss Josephine Morse.

The graduation exercises were held in the recitation hall, where these young ladies appeared. Miss Ethel Merrill, Miss Charlotte Tibbott, Miss Hazel Chadwick, Miss Ruby Abbott, Miss Grace Smith, Miss Ruth Heath, Miss Opal Bracken, Miss Dorothy Wright and Miss Christine Rose. Rev. A. St. John Chamber presided. The opening prayer was said by Rev. Charles T. Billings.

HON. GEORGE H. MARTIN.
Hon. George H. Martin of Boston, secretary of the state board of education, and a trustee of Rogers Hall school, gave an address on "The Transient and the Permanent in Education."

"It is not without significance, that on this beautiful June afternoon, two institutions in this city celebrate their commencement exercises. The Lowell Textile school and this Rogers Hall school, young women. I think that one might probably spend a whole afternoon in the consideration of what this coincidence means. In the light of modern education. Looking back at the days of Lucy Larcom and her friends in the mills of Lowell, who spent their nights in study, we see how far society has come in two or three years. In the direction of the higher education of women as illustrated here, in the development of the higher education of those who are to do their part in the industrial life of the community, as shown in the Textile school.

In the daily routine of our educational work, we often lose sight of the more obscure elements that enter into the education, as the work of life. We often over-estimate that which, after all, is more transient, and under-estimate that which, after all, is the enduring element. We need, in the first place, to rid ourselves of the somewhat narrow idea that education is purely the function of a school. We are coming to feel that education is not schooling, that it is not a transient thing, that it is not a thing which when we begin to live, and it continues as long as we live. Schools are by no means the only means of education. All that enters into life is means of education. The home, the church, the club, the library, the place of work, the place of play, the place of business, all these are means of education, and thus all of the power of the mind are being drawn out, trained and developed, and we become men and women, fitted to fill our places in society.

"Let us notice at this point, a distinction between that which is transient and that which is enduring. I should say first, that knowledge is transient. These young ladies have acquired a good deal of it, and they want it to last through this month of June long enough for them to answer all of the questions that will be put to them in that college examination, that awaits them. I am not sure that they realize how little beyond that full day it will really last, after all. The knowledge that we acquire with so much labor all the way up, does disappear amazingly.

"Among the elements of education, I would mention habit. It becomes of vital importance that these habits, which are so enduring, be of the good kind. Habits of person, habits of speech, may become so permanent and so fixed.

"Power is permanent. It is acquired gradually, and finally becomes a part of one's nature. The power to see clearly to reason, to see the relation of things, to judge correctly in all the experience of life, and then the power to do things, to accomplish something. Every one asks now not what does a man know, but what can he do.

"Tastes are permanent. It is a man's tastes are basic and degraded, we say he is a mean man; we say he has a noble character if his tastes are elevating and refined.

"The love of good reading is one of the permanent acquisitions which come through education. A true love of books, and the love of nature never conflict. Then there is the love of art and of music, which give to our life something that always endures. But there is the love of service. The world has been enriched always by men and women who have been living not for themselves, but for others. We ought to get out of our education this idea of service, living out our life in some way so that some one is better for our having lived. The opportunities were never so great as now. Society demands the best of every man and every woman. There is need of this co-operative spirit, not only in the home, but in all our social needs, and ought to be one in social endeavor for the highest good of us all.

"Out of all these elements, comes the individual worth into the world, to do some work in the world, to have it done. The question of education, then, is with reference to all these things. What habits has he, what power has he? What taste has he, what ideas has he? To these young ladies, standing 'where the break and river meet' I commend this idea, that in your present and in your future you will be thinking of these things, realizing that the knowledge acquired so painfully will after all disappear, and will ask yourselves, Am I acquiring these more permanent things?"

REV. DR. CHAMBER.
In the absence of the president of the board of trustees, Rev. John M. Green, D. D., Rev. A. St. John Chamber made a brief address to the graduating class, and conferred the diploma.

Rev. George E. Martin, D. D., pronounced the benediction. The class motto is "L'Amitie."

The list of graduates is as follows: Alice Abbott, Goshen, Indiana; Alice Neal Bailey, March, Maine; Hortense Colby, Berlin, New Hampshire; Harriet Emily Davey, Amsterdam, New York; Helen Downer, Boston; Pauline Farrington, Lowell; Anthony Matheson, Gorton, (Glossop); Fricilla Jewett, Flowers, Lockport, New York; Harriet French Nesmith, Lowell; Isabel Whitlaw Nesmith, Lowell; Dorothy Dewey Norton, Bennington, Vermont; Harriet Clifton Parsons, Jacksonville, Illinois; Helen Porter, Winona, Minnesota; Alice Edwina Robinson, Lowell; Lida Mae Stevens, Lowell.

The class president, Miss Gorton, presented to the school, in behalf of the class, a mahogany table for the drawing room. Miss Gorton said: "We predict a good, firm table. The girls will appreciate the fact that it stands on eight good, firm legs, and does not wobble if we look at it. It is also a correct reproduction of the old table around which the Declaration of Independence was signed."

The gift was accepted by Major C. A. Stott in behalf of the trustees. He thanked the class for the gift and told the girls that they were sweet and pretty.

A lawn fête followed the literary exercises. Under the trees small tables had been spread and chairs arranged for the comfort of guests.

CUT HIS THROAT
Fall River Boy Killed by Negro
FALL RIVER, June 2.—News has been received here by Mrs. John Richards of 11 Eighth street that her son John, 23 years of age, and a sailor on United States steamer Virginia, was murdered in his bunk by a quarrelsome shipmate on May 2. The murder is supposed to have been committed in a southern port, but only meagre details of the crime have reached here. All that is known by the Richards family is the following letter:

"The chief of bureau directs me to inform you that one Thomas Warren, sailing on board the U. S. S. Virginia, was killed on the 21st inst., and just prior to his death, made the statement that his true name was John Richards, and that his mother lived at the address below. Please inform the bureau if the statements made by Warren are correct.

"Respectfully,
"C. THEO. VOGELAUG,
"Lieutenant U. S. N."
Mrs. John Richards, 41 Eighth street, Fall River.

Up to this time the Richards family had not known their son was in the navy.

TEXTILE NEWS

What is Going on In the Mills

NEW YORK, June 2.—The following dispatches received by a local paper touch on textile conditions in several sections of the country:

IN NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 2.—The Western mills, in Copley county, the largest cotton mills in this state, have decided upon an enlargement of the capacity of their plant, and Captain L. L. Saunders of this city, president of the mills, has just returned from Wesson where he went to supervise the arrangements for same. Captain Saunders recently made a trip to the east in order to secure skilled operatives for employment in the mills. On account of the scarcity of labor and the impossibility of getting skilled labor in this territory, the Wesson mills have had a number of idle looms for years. Captain Saunders brought back 75 operators from the east, who have been installed comfortably and are now at work. With these operators, machinery was put into operation that has not been running for years. Captain Saunders expects still another installment of operators from the New Bedford section in a few days, and when these arrive the mills will be making full time and largely increasing their capacity. These mills have not been able in years to keep up with their orders, and have to turn away thousands and thousands of dollars on this account. The recent general increase in demand for cotton goods all over the world has put additional demands on the mills in the south, and the Western mills find it necessary to increase their capacity.

WORKMEN NEEDED.

WATERLOO, N. Y., June 2.—The foundations for the new buildings of the Waterloo Manufacturing Co. are nearing completion, and the construction of the buildings will proceed rapidly. The contractor who has charge of the work are Dean & Main, of Boston. While the old building will be rebuilt, the contract provides that the manufacturing operations of the plant shall not be disturbed by the changes. The principal new building will be of brick, five stories in height, 20 ft by 50 ft. It will cover the site in the old building sheds, joining the eastern end of the east hill, doors between connecting the old and new buildings. The new buildings will contain all modern appliances for the work, and also all suitable conveniences for the employees, including seven sinks and 22 lavatories. The completed work will greatly increase the capacity of the plant and result in a large addition to the force of employees.

CAPITAL INCREASED.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., June 2.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Lockhart mills held in this city a resolution was voted to increase the capital stock of the plant to $1,000,000 by issuing $250,000 of 7 per cent. non-cumulative preferred stock. Over 500 shares were represented at this meeting, and the action was practically unanimous. The new mill at Lockhart, which is already about half way completed, will be equipped with 10,000 spindles and 100 looms. President Cary expects to have the new factory in readiness for the next year's crop. In all, the Lockhart mills will have 75,000 spindles in operation. The products of the mill consist of brown sheetings, and are handled by the commission firm of Deering, Milliken & Co., New York.

TO ENLARGE MILL.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., June 2.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Orangeburg Manufacturing Co. was held in this city. Very nearly all the shares of the capital stock of the mill were represented at this meeting either in person or by proxy. A resolution was adopted, looking to the increase of the capital stock of the mill to $500,000. The present capital stock of this mill is $200,000. The report of President Smith shows that the mill is getting along very nicely and is making money. This mill has an excellent plant and with increased capital it will be put in a very strong position to take advantage of the evident change for the better in the cotton mill situation generally in this state.

AMERICAN WOOLEN CO.

UNBRIDGE, Mass., June 2.—Attorneys Dodge & Taft have filed at the courthouse a deed of three tracts of land in Unbridge and at Island in the Blackstone River, from the Calumet Woolen Co. to the American Woolen Co. Only a few days ago the American Woolen Co. bought the Hecla mill property at Unbridge from the Calumet Woolen Co., and the former company adds to its holdings in Unbridge the three tracts and the island. The deed says that these tracts and the island are sold in consideration of $1 and other valuable considerations. The first tract contains about 22 acres, with barns and other structures thereon, and is located on the easterly side of Hecla street in the village of Hecla. The other two tracts are located southerly of Hecla village. One contains 33 acres and the other a little more than two acres. The island, located in the Blackstone River, comprises a little more than two acres. The deed is a lengthy instrument, and contains in detail a description of the property acquired by the American Woolen Co., and also the location in the deed. The instrument is signed by H. W. Smith, president of the Calumet Woolen Co. and by Arthur Wheelock, treasurer of the Calumet Woolen Co.

GEO. CHARRETTE

AT HAVERHILL ON MEMORIAL DAY.

The Haverhill Gazette has the following: A distinguished visitor at the Memorial day observance by the G. A. R., in City hall Tuesday evening, who escaped notice because of his extreme modesty, was George Charrette, chief gunner at the Charleston navy yard, who was one of the men who accompanied Lieut. Hobson in the sinking of the collier Merrimack in Santiago harbor, thus "bottling up" Cerro's fleet in the Spanish war. During the war Charrette is a Lowell boy, and during his service in the United States navy he has visited every civilized country in the world. He was gunner's mate on the battleship Iowa, when chosen to accompany Hobson on his perilous trip and was soon after promoted to be gunner. He stopped in Haverhill this morning, continuing on a trip to Portsmouth. Speaking of the naval battle in the Straits of Korea, Gunner Charrette said that, in his opinion, the Japanese are the greatest sea fighters in the world, as well as being as patriotic as any nation of the earth. Several years ago he made a tour of Japan, and from what he then learned of the country he was not surprised at the reports of the sublime heroism of its men in the fight against the Russian armies. Charrette is enlisted for sea service and will leave in a few days for the east.

PLEADS GUILTY

LOBLEY RECEIVED $35,000 IN STOLEN PROPERTY.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Samuel Lobley, who has been on trial in the supreme court in Brooklyn charged with fraudulently obtaining money on a life insurance policy which is alleged to have been stolen from the vaults of the Equitable Life Assurance society in this city, yesterday withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. This action was taken by advice of counsel, it was announced.

The policy in question had been deposited with the Equitable by Wm. C. Cotton of Brookline, Mass., as security for a loan.

Lobley told the court that the total sum received on the stolen property was approximately $35,000. Of this amount he said his share was only $10,000. He said that Emil Neumer, the Equitable clerk now under arrest, told him that money could be raised on the policy, Neumer adding that there was at least a million to be had from the Equitable and that with the assistance of four others it could be made to produce that amount. The policy was used twice and each time, Lobley said, the major portion of the amount obtained was turned over to Neumer. Lobley said he supposed that Neumer divided the proceeds with the four others who had been mentioned. Lobley told the court today that his part in the Equitable case was merely to cash the checks of the company.

BALFOUR ILL

LORD LANSDOWNE SPOKE ON ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE.

LONDON, June 2.—Lord Lansdowne, secretary for foreign affairs, in the absence of Premier Balfour, who is ill, presided at the dinner of conservative agents last night. Replying to the toast of the health of Mr. Balfour, Lord Lansdowne referred to the hope expressed for a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and said that the only practical question would be as to how best to strengthen the existing alliance.

Never were the relations between France and Great Britain better or stronger than at present, said Lord Lansdowne and when the brief history of the recent anxious months came to be written, it would appear that the good understanding with France had been the means of greatly mitigating the friction and troubles which seemed inevitable when a great war was progressing.

MATTHEWS

EX-MAYOR OF BOSTON NOW MEN-TIONED FOR GOVERNOR.

BOSTON, June 2.—Former Mayor Matthews is one of the possible candidates for the democratic nomination for governor, and the name of Mr. Matthews has been associated in the councils of the democratic leaders with the names of General Miles and former Congressman John H. Thayer of Worcester.

"Mr. Matthews does not seek the honor, nor does he wish for it," remarked a democratic leader, "but I think he would take it in the same spirit that Josiah Quincy once took the nomination."

"John H. Thayer is undoubtedly one of the strongest men in the democratic party at the polls," remarked Congressman John A. Sullivan yesterday. "His views on the tariff are consistent, opposing as they do the upbuilding of monopolies."

"I should say that either John H. Thayer, Nathan Matthews or General Miles would be good men for the place, if any one of them wants it," said ex-Senator Guy Currier of Methuen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Price of Thayer, New Zealand, are visiting Mr. Henry J. Weight of Pawtucketville. They are on their way to England after an absence of 37 years. Mr. Weight will accompany them and visit acquaintances and friends of long ago, where both were employed. They will sail on S. S. Ivernia, June 6. Mr. Weight has lately severed his connection with the Hamilton falls where he was employed as a machinist for 31 years. His many friends wish him a bon-voyage and a much needed rest.

VENTION MAY BE HELD.

It is probable that the next national council will be held in Boston. The New England Knights are ready to extend a royal welcome. It is also probable that the present convention will adopt a charitable bureau on the plan of that of Massachusetts, of which James J. Nolan of Jamaica Plain council is the head.

CHURCH FIRE

ST. MARY'S CHURCH WAS AL-MOST DESTROYED.

BANGOR, Me., June 2.—St. Mary's Catholic church in Bangor was almost destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The flames at one time threatening the residence of Fr. Harrington and other buildings. The fire caught from candles near the altar which had been used in the ceremony of the feast of the ascension.

The roof was covered with tarred paper, and the inside finish was of southern pine, so that the fire caused thick clouds of dense, suffocating smoke. The local firemen were unable to check the flames, largely because the smoke prevented them from getting near the building, and Bangor was asked to send a steamer and company of men. The church was built about three years ago at a cost of $12,000. It was insured for $6000.

THE MINERS

JOHN MITCHELL STARTS ORGANIZING CAMPAIGN AMONG THEM.

NEW YORK, June 2.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, who was to have left New York for Scranton on Tuesday to attend mass meetings of the anthracite miners, is still in this city. Although Mitchell himself is non-committal, it is known that he will try before he leaves town either to see the presidents of the coal carrying roads or to make arrangements for meeting them later.

The two years agreement between the coal operators and the miners which was brought about by the anthracite strike commission expires on April 1, 1906, and it is known by the presidents of the companies that Mitchell will start an organizing campaign among the miners when he leaves New York and before he returns to Indianapolis.

At the offices of the companies it was stated yesterday that Mitchell had not called on so far. President W. E. Truesdale of the Lackawanna said yesterday evening that he understood that Mr. Mitchell would address meetings of the miners in the anthracite districts as soon as he left New York. As to what, if any, new demands would be made when the present agreements expired, he could say nothing.

"The anthracite strike commission," he said, "will go out of existence officially when the agreement expires. The constitution committee may or may not continue in existence."

Mr. Truesdale said that large amounts of anthracite were being mined. This was partly because of the low price of coal and partly because of the fact that the strike two years ago having made householders careful to lay in supplies now.

"As to wages," he said, "they are based on the price of coal. What they may be after April 1 we do not know yet. Matters are quiet now, and if there is any trouble next year it will be up to the miners."

It was learned that when Mitchell goes to Scranton he will go at once into conference with Presidents Nicholas, Fahy and DeWitt of the three anthracite districts. The entire situation will be considered and organized mass meetings will be held at which Mitchell will be the principal speaker.

He is anxious to avoid a strike next year, though members who grow lukewarm when a strike is over will be hard to keep in line if there is no strike.

WILL SELL

CHICAGO LINES MAKE OFFER TO MAYOR DUNNE.

CHICAGO, June 2.—A definite proposition on the part of the traction companies to sell the car systems to the city has been made to Mayor Dunne, and if reports at the City Hall are correct the offer will be all but a certainty. This development looked out yesterday while the mayor and a number of traction advisers were in consultation with James Doherty, manager of the Chicago municipal tramways. It is believed that negotiations between the city and the companies will be concluded soon.

The proposition includes the immediate turning over of the two traction systems to the city, or at least their operation under city supervision; the rehabilitation of both systems by their present owners, the city ultimately paying for whatever nothing is necessary in order to establish a first class and up to date service; decision to the board of directors of both systems of representatives and experts for the city, who shall work in harmony with the general managers of the traction companies; the temporary passing over of the so-called ninety-nine year rights; the awaiting of a final determination of the status of those rights before estimating or attempting to establish a value for the intangible property of the systems; an appraisal of present values of the systems; acceptance of Mueller law certificates in payment for the properties.

Just what sum has been agreed upon for present tangible values of the traction systems could not be ascertained, but in the case of the city railway system it was said that it would approximate 8 per cent. on the present earning capacity of the lines, and in case of the Union Traction system 2 to 3 per cent. on the preferred stock of the Union Traction company, plus the guaranteed interest on the bonds outstanding.

FESTIVAL

HELD AT GRACE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

A strawberry festival and play was held at the Grace Universalist church last night, the event being one of the most successful of the season. A supper, with strawberries as the special attraction, was served in the vestry from six till 7.30 o'clock. The supper was in charge of Mrs. C. P. Perham. At 8.30 o'clock the audience assembled in the hall and a two-act comedy was presented, the name being "Second Floor Spoons." This popular and well known comedy was ably presented by the following cast:

Dodo McLaren, Miss Bertha M. Abbott, Tessie Girty, Miss Alice C. Livingston, Sarah, Miss Bonnie L. Adams, Tyrone Herbert, Charles A. Nichols, Blaise Jimpton, Roland W. Black, Artie Bruce, Willard A. Parker, Col. Thomas Girty, Sidney Barton, Jenks, Joseph Brogden.

Between the acts Miss Gladys Ashworth played the piano. The play was well received, the audience expressing its appreciation of the fine work of the players by frequent applause and laughter.

CARRILON COUNCIL

WILL CELEBRATE ST. JOHN'S DAY.

Carrillon council, Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, will hold a banquet on St. John's day, June 23, at St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street. The council is the only one of the French organizations in this city which is going to celebrate the day, though the C. M. A. C. will have a celebration on the same day. The latter event, however, will be the celebration of the Feast of the Sacred Heart which is the association's patronal feast.

Carrillon council has appointed the following committees to organize the affair:

Committee on music and decorations, L. A. Racicot, Ephrem Corneller, Louis Asselin, Albert Germain, Joseph Guellette and Ovide Fortier.

Press committee, Maxime Lepine and Arthur Beaucage.

Committee on invitations, E. H. Choquette, Auguste Levesque and Maxime Lepine.

Some well known speakers from this city as well as from other large French centres of New England will be invited to deliver patriotic addresses.

GLORIOUS FOURTH

LOWELL WILL HAVE A BIG TIME THIS YEAR.

This year's Fourth of July committee is made up of pretty good material and it looks as if Lowell would be treated to one of the best observances in her history. The slambang parade will be a great drawing card and the fact that it has been and will be well advertised in the papers will bring big crowds from out of town. There are not a few disgruntled ones, however, because of the fact that the committee is disposed to cut out the firemen's master and children's entertainment, but it seems to be the thought of Lowell that it would be better to have one attraction and have it right than to have several and have them half right.

The committee will have generous assistance in making a great big success of the slambang parade. Men who took part in slambang parades years ago have told members of the committee that they will be on hand this year to do their share in making the slambang parade an interesting, horrible and an unusual one as possible.

one of the best seen in the Spindle City for a good many years.

Those who bid on the Russell street school plans are cutting down their bids a trifle in order to allow a margin for the furnishing of the school and also to allow the architect his commission.

The recent absorption of the Lowell machine shop and Kitson Co. by a firm which is supposed to be the Draper Co. of Hopedale, Mass., has been the cause of many rumors, some of which are very absurd, while others seem probable.

NEW MACHINE SHOPS.

A well known local man who is in touch with the managers of the two local corporations and who is generally one of the first men in the city to learn of new work in the building line, has learned from a reliable source that before another year has gone by plans will be completed for the erection of several new machine shops which will without doubt eventually extend from the present building occupied by the Kitson Co. down to Broadway.

Kitson street, extending from Dutton street to Worthen street, is private property and can be closed at any time by its owners, while the corporation property from Kitson street to Broadway, bounded by Dutton and Worthen streets was the property of the Lowell machine shop, and now of course belongs to the managers who purchased the stock of that company.

The company which owns the two local corporations above mentioned is probably the largest mill machinery manufacturing concern in the world, and owing to the number of new mills that are being built and the old machinery that is being discarded for new, will mean a big extension of the companies works, and as the steel area of land bounded by Kitson, Broadway, Worthen and Dutton streets, is being devoted to tenement property, from which there is not a very large income, it is very probable that when the company's plan is enlarged, the site of the new buildings will be in that section.

If the company decides to build in Lowell it will mean a big boom for this city for both of the local machine shops having been paying good wages and the erection of new buildings will mean the employment of many hundreds more hands.

An official of the Kitson company interviewed after the Kitson was purchased said:

"Yes, in all probability, we will have to enlarge our buildings."

"Well, I suppose that you will close Kitson street and erect another building to connect with the present plant?"

"Well we have plenty of space to build on if we want to, for we can go from here to Broadway."

"Why, does the Lowell Machine Shop own the property from Kitson street to Broadway?"

"Well, yes it does, or rather it did, but the company that purchased the stock in this company also purchased the stock of the Lowell Machine shop."

Messrs. Hunker and Hennessey, proprietors of the Halloway and Halloway, will commence in a week or so to make extensive additions to the building and adjoining the O'Connell building which they recently purchased will either be raised or removed. If a suitable purchaser can be found the building will be sold and removed, or else it will be raised and extensive improvements made in it.

The management of the Halloway thinks that its increasing patronage demands a larger floor space for the skaters and when the improvements have been made the patrons of the rink at the fall opening will find a new and up-to-date circular floor, the floor space to be 50 by 65 feet, making one of the largest skating surfaces in New England.

The present entrance to the rink will be abandoned and the door extended from Dutton to Worthen streets. The first floor of the new building will be turned into a store, while the upper floors will be devoted to offices, reception rooms and skating.

We would advise you to keep a bottle of Witch Hazel in the house. Good for toothache, earache, headache and lots of other aches. A pint will cost you but 15c.

GAS LIGHT BUILDING.

The Staples Bros. Co. has a big job on its hands at the Lowell Gas Light Co.'s property in School street, that of erecting a mammoth building for gas works. Like many other modern constructions it will be built of cement, but will differ from the other buildings on the premises as it will be built in the ground. Men are now at work excavating. It will be about 100 by 45 feet, and will be about 15 feet deep. The structure when completed will be in keeping with the numerous other recently constructed buildings on the land of this company.

The new Swedish church in Olney street, off Cornhill street, is rapidly nearing completion. All of the exterior work has been completed and the workmen are now busily engaged on the interior. Despite the fact that the church is a rather small one, it will be sufficiently large to accommodate the members. The interior will be finished in a manner which will reflect great credit on the builders.

An up-to-date double tenement house is being erected in Grace street by Contractor E. L. Gray for Miss Annand M. Hudley. The house will be 26x24 feet when completed, two and one-half stories high, and will set back from the street line 22 feet. The estimated cost of the building is $1000.

The increasing popularity of the automobile has caused its many purchasers to have more stables, to have erected a suitable shelter for their machines, and several years ago an automobile stable was unheard of in this city, but at the present time the auto stables are numerous.

Olly M. Harris is one of the latest owners to have a stable erected. The work being done by C. T. Bartlett at Mr. Harris' property at 15 Upham street.

A Sawyer is erecting a $3000 double tenement house in Moody street, near Third avenue. The building when completed will have a frontage of 45 feet and will extend back 55 feet and will be two and one-half stories high.

Dwight Zisking is remodeling his property at 18 Apple street, changing over a store in the building in order to make room for a tenement.

TWO VERY FINE LOTS OF 5000 SQUARE FEET EACH SITUATED ON THE WESTERLY SIDE OF HAMPSHIRE STREET.

These two parcels of land, each containing 5000 square feet, have frontages of about 50 feet on each street. They are good lots, and will undoubtedly prove quite valuable to their purchasers, for they are well located for building purposes, right in the heart of a fine neighborhood, with all city advantages, and are exceptionally fine building sites. Hampshire street runs from West Sixth street, to Bridge street, and this lot of land is not far from the well known Creamery property. Now, here is a chance for the speculator to invest in a worthy proposition. When I bought these lots it was my intention to build right away, but as I am about to move from the city, I am determined to sell them to the highest bidder.

BLOCK OF ELEVEN TENEMENTS, STORE AND ABOUT 4000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 70½ AND 72 JEFFERSON ST.

The block contains eleven tenements of 3, 4, or 5 rooms each, and while not in perfect repair at the present time, could with the proper care and handling which it has not had for some time past, be made to pay a grand revenue on the price you will pay for it at public sale. It is a three-story building, with every part of it arranged into tenements. Now it will be well for you to give this property some consideration, as we are determined to sell it and some one is sure to get a great trade. The lot contains about 4000 square feet of land with a frontage on the street of about 35 feet, the location is a decidedly good one for tenement property, and the reason why the store, located as it is could not be made to rent in good advantage.

Terms: $500 at time and place of sale.

C. F. KEYES in Charge.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

Of a two-tenement house and about 5073 square feet of land at No. 74 Crosby street. Promptly at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, I will sell without limit or reserve this piece of property, situated at No. 74 Crosby street. To the person wishing to invest a small amount of capital, one who could be on the premises and look after it, that is to live in one of the tenements, it would certainly make a good investment for a small amount of money. The house consists of two tenements, one of four and one of six rooms. They are rented at the present time, and rent for about $120 a year. It is in very fair repair and with the proper handling could undoubtedly be made to pay more. The lot is a large one of 5073 square feet, with a frontage on Crosby street of about 51 feet, the extreme depth being about 99 feet. It is well located tenement property, being in close proximity with the Bunting Mills, Carriage Shop and many other industries located in this section. If you have a few dollars you wish to invest in this locality, this is indeed a good prospect.

Terms: $300 must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off.

The house contains seven large rooms, pantry, bath, is gas lighted and has a fine cemented cellar. The stable has good carriage room, stalls for two horses and a good loft overhead. The buildings are in very good condition, and it would have to be seen to be appreciated. The lot is large, it contains 8329 square feet, with a frontage on Parker street of about 65 feet. Over Sad Story of the Fay Family

The sad story of William Fay and his family of South Chelmsford, published exclusively in yesterday's Sun, has attracted widespread attention and sympathy in this city, Chelmsford and Billerica where Fay formerly resided.

The people of Billerica, who knew him since childhood, speak highly of the unfortunate man and his family and many of them have expressed their intention of visiting the family and assisting them.

The people of Chelmsford are chagrined to learn that such a sad case existed without their knowledge during the celebration and Agent Richardson of the Humane society, who first learned of the case through The Sun, went out there today.

Since the publication of the story The Sun has received a couple of contributions for the assistance of the

WILLIAM McDONALD, THE DROWNED BOY.

William McDonald, aged nine years and son of John F. McDonald, foreman at the power house of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company in Middlesex street, and residing at 8 South street, was drowned while bathing in the canal in the rear of Dolbert's foundry off Middlesex street late yesterday afternoon.

The boy was an attendant at the Franklin school and at the close of school went to his home and told his mother he was going out to play. The boy was accompanied by Jerry Corrier and Ernest Mosher and all went their way to what is known as the "baby hole."

McDonald couldn't swim, but was trying to learn. He stood in the water near the hole talking, when he suddenly lost his balance and slipped into the hole where the water was quite deep. His struggles for a footing were brief and he sank for the last time before help could be obtained.

Other boys were swimming a short way below, and when notified ran to the hole and Hugh O'Hearn dove several times endeavoring to reach the boy. He was unsuccessful.

The McDonald boy had been in the hospital all the past winter, having been severely hurt from being hit with a golf ball.

Besides his father and mother the little fellow leaves three sisters and one brother to mourn his loss.

Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons were notified of the accident and went to the scene with grappling tools, but at the time of going to press the body had not been recovered.

At 10 o'clock tonight the water in the Western canal will be drawn off and Western canal will be drawn off and Undertaker O'Donnell will try to locate the body.

SEARS IS DEAD

SOUTHBORO, June 2.—J. Montgomery Sears, the heaviest tax payer of Boston and one of the wealthiest men in New England, died at his summer home here early today. He had been ill for several months with diabetes and jaundice.

The cause of Bunsching Kuchelowsky, charged with stealing $5 from a fellow countryman was continued until tomorrow.

Stumped Terry, a young husband barely out of his teens was complained of by his wife for non-support and she said that Sears had not been working of late when she was forced to return to her folks to live. His wife further says that Sears had been drinking. The young husband said he had taken the pledge and would go to work Monday. The court gave him some sound advice and Probation Officer Satterly did the rest.

For Hanging 'Round Leblanc's Homo

When Christos Dasicos was arrested for trespassing on complaint of Octave Leblanc, the first information given to the police was to the effect that Dasicos was calling upon Leblanc's daughter and refused to leave visiting her when ordered to by her father.

But when the case was called in police court this morning it turned out to be entirely different and of a much more serious nature. The defendant pleaded not guilty. The complainant was the wife of Leblanc rather than his daughter.

Mary Leblanc, residing in Coolidge street, was the first witness, and through interpreter Jimmy Donohue testified: "I have known the defendant about five weeks. He came to the house last Wednesday and he came to my house seven days after that, and on Monday showed me money and wanted to stay. I told him to go away three times on Monday and since then he was there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and each time I ordered him out."

Cross examined by Lawyer Daniel Wilkes said that the defendant began his visit to her house last Monday.

Octave Leblanc, the husband, testified that he had seen the defendant coming out of the house on Tuesday. On cross examination he said he knew the defendant by sight and had never spoken to him.

Allice Shanley, a neighbor, testified that the defendant made an improper proposition to her after coming out of the complainant's tenement.

"I was out looking for the kid," said the witness.

"Do you keep goats there?" asked the court.

"No," said the witness.

"What do you mean by the kid?" demanded the court.

"My young sister," replied the witness smiling sweetly.

Christos Dasicos the defendant testified he came here on May 8 by the Greek calendar and moved to Coolidge street. On Monday he met the complainant at the boy in the street and the latter took a chain belonging to him and ran away with it. He saw the mother several times afterward and told her that he wanted the chain. The boy whom he claims ran away with the chain is only seven years of age. Dasicos denied that he ever offered any money to the witness or made any proposition to her.

The court found Dasicos guilty and fined him $15.

One drunk was released, five fined $2, and one fined $5. There was a suspended sentence and Michael Dillon a parole man from the state penitentiary was sent back tomorrow.

PEACE OR WAR

Russian Emperor Will Summons a Zemsky Sobor

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—5.23 P. M.—ALTHOUGH OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION IS LACKING THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AGAIN HEARS ON VERY HIGH AUTHORITY THAT EMPEROR NICHOLAS HAS RESOLVED TO FOLLOW THE ANCIENT TRADITIONS OF THE HOUSE OF ROMANOFF AND SUMMONS A ZEMSKY SOBOR TO MEET IN THE ANCIENT CAPITAL OF MOSCOW TO DECIDE ON PEACE OR WAR AND DETERMINE THE FORM AND PREROGATIVES OF THE FUTURE RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT.

CALLED A TRAITOR

Strong Feeling Against Admiral Nebogatoff in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2, 2.05 p. m.—The Russian press this morning is still advocating more vigorously than ever the summoning of a national assembly, even the reactionary Avist, joining in the general chorus. In view of the current rumors it is most significant that the papers which are more or less in the confidence of the government, unanimously take the position that representatives of the people should decide the question of peace or war.

All censorship is now removed from foreign dispatches and the people are appalled at the horrible reports of slaughter on board the Russian ships. The admiralty has not yet been able to estimate even approximately from the foreign advices the loss of men but as the ships were over, rather than under manned, the total will be greater than the ordinary complement of the vessels would indicate and probably will exceed 10,000 if only about 4,000 were saved.

Regular masses are being celebrated constantly in all the churches and chapels for the repose of the souls of the slain although the distracted relatives are unable to learn definitely the fate of those dear to them.

The admiralty up to the present has been unable to throw any light on the situation, except to announce the safety of those who have reached Vladivostok. Ugly stories are circulating in this city of the desertion and even treachery of the crews of several of the Russian ships during the battle and it is even said that the crew of the battleship Orel bound their officers and hoisted the white flag. The origin of these stories which are discredited by all naval men here, cannot be traced as the only direct information comes from Japan but they are doubtless based on the trouble among the crew of the Orel before her departure for the Far East. She was sunk at her dock before she left Cronstadt and later at Lihau the crew were mutinous.

A Surprise to His First Wife

BOSTON, June 2.—The marriage of the Hon. Frank W. The Insurance Commissioners of Three States Examine The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company

The Insurance Departments of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Wisconsin, after a rigid examination made at the request of the Board of Trustees of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, officially unite in a report showing the following:

THE COMPANY HAS MORE SURPLUS THAN IT CLAIMS. INVESTMENTS OF THE HIGHEST ORDER. DEATH CLAIMS PAID ON RECEIPT OF PROOF OF LOSS. NEW BUSINESS PROCURED WITH FIDELITY TO THE INTERESTS OF POLICY-HOLDERS. THE COMPANY IS PURELY MUTUAL—HAVING NO CAPITAL STOCK.

TRUSTEES ARE ELECTED BY THE POLICY-HOLDERS. CHARTER PROHIBITS PROXY VOTING. OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY THE TRUSTEES. TRUSTEES EXERCISE INTELLIGENT AND FAITHFUL SUPERVISION OVER THE COMPANY'S BUSINESS.

It is given to few institutions, possessed like the Penn Mutual Life of nearly SEVENTY MILLIONS of assets, to boast of such splendid management as is evidenced by the report of the searching investigation to which it has just been subjected. The examiners found no subject whatever for adverse criticism. There were no weak spots but, in every direction, overwhelming evidence that the interests of the company's policy-holders are cared for with fine ability and integrity.

FAIRGROUND FIRE

Cattle Sheds Burned in Lively Blaze

FIRE SPREAD TO COAL ELEVATOR

Which Was Considerably Damaged

About two hundred feet of the cattle sheds on the back of the Middlesex North Agricultural fair grounds in Gorham street were destroyed by fire late yesterday afternoon, and the big coal elevator, in the rear of the livestock railroad station, and belonging to Peter Mollahan, was badly damaged by fire, while there were many buildings in the vicinity threatened with the high wind which was blowing and the difficulty that the firemen had in securing water to play on the burning buildings.

The fire was caused by a spark from a passing engine dropping on the roof of one of the sheds and owing to the high wind the sparks communicated to the roof of the Mollahan coal elevator about two hundred yards below.

It was 4:05 o'clock in the afternoon when an alarm was sent in from box 35 and as engine 1 and hose 2 rushed into Gorham street the blazing sheds in the rear of the grounds near the railroad tracks could be plainly seen. Several lines of hose were laid from a hydrant near the entrance to the grounds, but it required many extra lengths to reach where the fire was and then owing to the low pressure and the long pipe which the water had to flow through the stream on the fire was not a very large one though the two lines with the assistance of the chemical did very effective work.

About one hundred feet of the shed was burning fiercely when the fire was blazing when the department arrived, and it was only through the energetic work of the men that any part of the shed was saved from destruction.

While the fire at the fair grounds was burning fiercely word was received that the sparks had communicated to the roof of the Mollahan building and Chief Hanson, one of the hose companies and the chemical went to the scene and found the shingles on the roof burning in several places on both sides of the roof.

Several lines of hose were laid, and then the firemen encountered an unusual trouble. When the water was turned on in one of the lines very little came through the nozzle. One of the hosemen unscrewed the nozzle and found a stone about as large as a person's fist in the pipe. The stone was taken out and the nozzle re-attached. A small spray came this time and then the water stopped suddenly. The pipe was taken off again and another stone was found. Five stones were found at different places in this line while in another line two stones were found, all of which undoubtedly came from the hydrant.

But for the fact that the chemical was on hand and played on the roof of the burning building while the hose men were taking out the stones, the place would have been destroyed and the big wooden buildings in the vicinity would have suffered.

President A. H. Chas. of the Middlesex North Agricultural society stated to a Sun reporter that the sheds were not insured. Mr. Mollahan's property, however, is insured.

LEG CUT OFF

JURED.

BOSTON, June 2.—With his right leg torn from his body and the left foot and ankle crushed, James Price, 6 son of John J. Price of 48 Pope street, East Boston, after having been run over by a freight train on the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. at the rear of his home, dragged himself for over 50 feet, to a point where he could attract attention. He was later removed to the Hotel hospital, where he died at 4:15 o'clock.

Young Price, in company with another boy named Donald O'Sullivan, ventured upon the unguarded track to play.

At the approach of a train, Price started to get off the track, but slipped and the train quickly struck him.

In spite of his shocking injury, the boy dragged himself to the side of the track nearest his home and cried for help.

OLD LADIES' HOME.

The board of patrons of the Old Ladies' Home held the monthly business meeting at the institution yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. C. Abbott presided in the absence of Mrs. George F. Richardson, who is in New York. Routine business occupied the time. It was announced that over $200 was realized from the May party.

While walking on the sidewalk near the home last week, one of the inmates, Mrs. Young, fell and fractured her hip.

THE EAGLES

WILL HAVE PERMANENT QUAR-TERS OF THEIR OWN.

The regular meeting of the Eagles held last evening was the largest attended session since the organization of the local Avie. The spirited contest for Avie physicians for the ensuing six months caused the great outpouring of members and when the votes were counted it was found that Dr. Daniel A. O'Hearn and Dr. Patrick J. Sullivan the present physicians had been selected. Junior J. W. P. James T. Doyle was chosen representative to the national convention which will be held in Denver, Col., in August. The degree was worked on nine candidates and six applications for membership were received. A delegation will visit Manchester next week and will take part in the field day of the Manchester Avie. A committee was appointed to arrange for the attendance of members at the New England field day which will be held in Providence in August. The most important business transacted was the appointment of a building site committee. It is the intention of the Eagles to secure quarters of their own, which will be centrally located. Visiting brethren were present from Chicago, Boston, New Haven and Holton, Me. Following the business session there was a social session during which a fine musical and literary program was given.

Frank C. Goodale and Mrs. Goodale will start June 12 for Portland, Ore., to visit Mr. Goodale's uncle, Captain Joseph Shiden, formerly of Lowell. They will go to Montreal and then take the Union Pacific road. They will be gone three or four weeks and will visit North Dakota, Seattle, San Francisco and other places during the trip.

BOSTON, June 2.—In spite of the vigorous effort on the part of the state to obtain possession of Nashawena island as a site for the state prison,

which it is proposed to remove from Charlestown, Governor Douglas' cherished plan has apparently come to nothing, as it is understood that Nashawena island was purchased yesterday by the Forbes estate, owners of the farm from the first has strenuously opposed neighboring island of Naushon, which the project to convert the island to a convict home and leper colony.

This move on the part of the Forbes interests effectually disposes of the project to establish the state prison in that locality, a project originating with Governor Douglas and carried almost to the point of success by the board of prison commissioners.

reason for this action in conjunction
with the suspension of Birmingham
was because the team has developed
such wonderful strength that it was somewhat expedient to make a break somewhere. The people who pay "two bits per game" ought to be considered; they are in for a real game of baseball with the best talent obtainable. If there is insubordination or other troubles, the players themselves should be made to stand
the burden, but the patrons of the game should not suffer. Fall River

BOXING GOSSIP

"Talking about greatness among fighters," said an old time sporting man the other day, "reminds me of the fact that some fighters can take more punishment than others. Some of the
the ring could be killed over by the slightest blow on the jaw. It's funny
how differently constituted are the fights.""First of all," said Lavinie,
"When the Saginaw Kid was himself
he could take more punishment than any two or three men in his class. He
Joe Walcott at Mexico. The colored fighter at that time was sweeping everything before him. Lavinie took an awful grilling for the first part of the battle, then came back strong, and beat the count. He gave a few rounds further would have knocked Walcott
out. It must be remembered that the stipulations of the contest were that Walcott was to knock out Lavinie in fifteen rounds. George took an awful beating from Myrtleson (Hill Smith)
in San Francisco, and only stopped when his brother threw up 'the sponge' in token of defeat. Then he called out loud and said: 'Hilly, what made you do that?' 'Hilly, what
"For top-notchers, Chovinski and Fitzsimmons are the easiest knocked over. This is especially true concerninging the former. The slightest kind of a bolt on the jaw will put Chovinski
down and out, and he has lost contests
just had an accident. When he fought Mather in New York he had the Irish champion on the ropes all but out, Mather's backers were ready to give up
the contest, when suddenly Peter took a dyab' chance, sewing his right to Joe's jaw, and the battle was over.
"When Chovinski went to Australia he had Joe Goddard whipped to a frazzle and all but out on two occasions; then he became careless, and a single blow from Goddard put him down and out in both fights.""The same is almost true of Fitzsimmons. He goes down very easily.
Chovinski had him down in London for the count of nine, Mather had him all but out. Hall sent him to the mat and freed him likewise, to say nothing
of Corbett doing the same thing in their Carson City fight, and Jeffries was the only one to knock him out, in their fight at Coney Island. Yet Fitzsimmons could hit himself with a caution.
"About twenty years ago, when boxing was flourishing at the old Theatre Gardens in Philadelphia, and 'stars'
cameras, there was a tough proposition
in the Quaker City named Mike Boden.
He will be recalled by the old-timers.
No fighter that ever came to the Gardens was able to knock Mike out, and he faced Kilrain, Jack Burke,Jack Dempsey, John Clow, Pat Kilrain, Jack Fallon and Jack Ashton, each
twice during the weeks they were there, and could not be put out. He seemed to be able to take all the blows
that were sent his way without flinch-ing. He did the same thing in Philadelphia against Chovinski and in Cincinnati against Chovinski and in Cincinnati against Chovinski. It seems unaccountable why that fellow cannot be knocked out."I have always contended that every man could be knocked out if he was hit in the right spot with proper force,
but Gilman sort of dispels that statement. Watch and see Gilman get himself before long. Sharkey used to say that no man could be knocked out, and fighters who made believe they were knocked out were 'quitters.' But Thomas soon became convinced differ-ently after Kilrain and Fitzsimmons got through with him and now he will tell you that any man in the world can be made to take the count.""Jim Corbett is a hard man to knock out. Not that he is noted for taking
a great amount of punishment, but because he is so clever that he is always going away from a punch. In that manner he breaks the force of the
blow and does not receive its full effect. But it does seem strange how slight a blow will put some fighters
on 'Queer Street,' while others can almost withstand the blow of a sledgehammer."Warm

DIVORCE COURT

Well Known Opera Singer Got a Decree

HUSBAND SAYS HIS WIFE WAS CRUEL

Woburn Couple Well Separated

Blanche Morrison Whitney of Boston, a singer in light opera, and well known to the theatre goers of the city, was granted a decree nisi by Judge Bond at the local court house in Gorham street yesterday afternoon.

She was known as Blanche Morrison at the stage and secured the decree against her husband, Harvey L.

Whitney, a Boston bookkeeper, on the ground of gross and confirmed habits of intemperance.

Mrs. Whitney was formerly with "The Bostonians" and more recently with the "Buff, Buff Puff" company, and it is stated that she has signed to sing with the Fritz Schlett company next season.

The libel was marked for the contested list and L. F. Sherman had entered his appearance for the libel against Whitney and his wife of Boston, for the libelant. The contest was afterward withdrawn.

Mrs. Morrison is a Cambridge girl, and her father was a witness in her behalf. The evidence showed that she was married at Haverhill, N.H., about eight years ago, and afterward lived with her husband in Boston.

Nellie M. Tyler of Waltham was granted a decree nisi against her husband Albert E. Tyler, the grounds being alleged cruelty and non-support.

The libel of Samuel Kirkland of Lowell against his wife, Margaret, was then heard. The Kirklands lived in Chestnut street at one time, and the libelant testified that his wife assaulted him on several occasions, and on one occasion threw a dish at him. He also stated that on one Sunday in February, the present year, as he was coming from church, she met him in front of the High Street church and struck him in the face. Joseph Stofa, a pretty Polish girl, testified through an interpreter, that she saw the assault, and another witness, named Robert Hood, corroborated. There was testimony relating to other alleged assaults, and the libelant also alleged that his wife was addicted to the use of intoxicants. Judge Bond took the case under advisement. The libel was entered on the contested list, but the contestants did not appear.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

In the divorce session of the superior court before Judge Bond this morning, cases for the libelant in the Tyler divorce case submitted an amendment to his original libel in the case, asking that the alimony of $50 per week be allowed the libelant. The amendment was allowed by the court.

The libel of Eleanor D. Daw, of Woburn, against her husband, Walter Daw, was then called. Mrs. Daw stated that she had received cruel and abusive treatment at the hands of her husband, that her husband tried to choke her, and threatened to poison and kill her and called her vile names.

The 17-year-old daughter of the libelant informed the court that on one occasion she saw her father with a bottle which he said was poison and he was going to give it to her mother. The contents of the bottle were of a dark brown color. She also heard her father threaten to throw the bottle at her mother.

Cona G. Daw, another daughter, testified that on Jan. 7 she heard her mother screaming in the house and when she entered the house she saw her mother in a faint in a chair, and her father had a knife in his hand. Witness stated that he threatened to cut her mother's heart out and blow her brain out. My mother was in a nervous state while the threats were being made.

A Woburn doctor, who is the family physician, stated that the libelant was suffering from complete nervous prostration, and stated that she is now suffering from the effects of the threats and it would be impossible for her to exist if she lived with her husband again.

A decree was granted in the case of Charlotte Grace Allen Holden against her husband, John Brooks Holden. Libelant and her husband were married on August 11, 1898 and afterwards went to reside in Everett. She had one child, in Sept. 1899 she left her husband owing to his abusive treatment. Witness stated that he attacked her and tried to choke her, the marks being visible on her neck for some time. She testified that he also committed other violence on her, and on one occasion he kicked her.

Dr. Moore of Melrose testified to the physical condition of the libelant at the present time.

One new case of cerebro-spinal meningitis was reported at the office of the board of health yesterday afternoon. The case is that of William Murray, 5 years old, 52 Kennebec street. There have been 82 cases up to date and 47 of them have proved fatal. Fifteen cases are now under treatment.

No new cases of small-pox have been reported and it is said that the contagious hospital will be released.

Alberto Smithson Hurt on Bridge St.

Alberto Smithson, of Bracon Centre, had a narrow escape from fatal injury while driving through Bridge street shortly after twelve o'clock this morning. He was driving along at a rapid rate of speed and attempting to pass another vehicle driven by two men. An electric car and then when the railroad tracks cross into the Massachusetts mills and in trying to clear the tracks, the team which was driven by the two men crossed Smithson and forced him against a telegraph pole.

The wheels of the wagon driven by Smithson collided with the pole, throwing the man into the street. He was picked up unconscious, and the ambulance telephoned for, but on its arrival he had regained his senses and was driven to his home in Bracon.

The wagon driven by Smithson was completely demolished, while the horse escaped unhurt.

MARTIN MISSING

NEW YORK, June 2.—Details have just been received here of the mysterious disappearance recently in Brighton, Eng., of Mifford Martin, a wealthy young American.

The young man's mother, whose home was in New York, married some time ago Dr. Walsby, of San Francisco, Cal., and she accompanied him to Europe in their party of last March. After visiting France, England and Ireland, Walsby and his mother arrived at Brighton on April 24, and took a suite of rooms at an exclusive hotel.

Martin made friends among the chorus girls of the local theatre, and only a few days ago he was seen with one of them. The girl returned to the pavilion for a short time, Martin having promised to await her on the pier. That was the last seen of him.

HIGH OFFICIALS

Summoned Before the Grand Jury

NEW BEDFORD, June 2.—Four of the most prominent public officials in Bristol county were served with subpoenas yesterday to appear before the grand jury which sits in New Bedford this month. They are Congressman William S. Greene of Fall River, Mayor Charles S. Ashley of New Bedford, Senator William J. Bullock of the 3d Bristol district and County Commissioner John I. Bryant of Fairhaven.

The officials in question, while not informed as to the nature of the case in which their testimony is desired, feel certain that it is the so-called Fall River court house scandal. The fact that Daniel A. Harrington, one of the contractors who bid on the roofing contract, and who stirred up the mass by his charges before the county commissioners, has also been summoned, makes it certain that Dist. Atty. Swift intends to probe that affair to the bottom.

On the first invitation for bids for the remodeling of the Fall River county court house three proposals were sent in. That of S. D. Hicks & Son of Boston was the lowest for copper roofing, just $18 under that of the Fall River Sheet Metal & Corrugated Works, which Mr. Harrington represents. When the county commissioners met to act on the bids Mr. Harrington charged that the bids Mr. Harrington charged that the two Fall River contractors who were not bidders had offered him $700 not to bid in a bid; that they had threatened him that, if he did put one in, there would be no use for him to bid, anyway. He further complained that Chairman George T. Durfee of the county commissioners had misled him with regard to the work to be done.

FUNERALS

HOLDEN—The funeral of Mrs. Emily Holden took place from her late home in North Billerica yesterday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Howe officiated. The bearers were David and Frank Mackie and George and Frank Holden. Burial was in Fox Hill cemetery. Undertaker C. M. Young & Co. had charge.

DEVINE—The remains of the late Andrew J. Devine were consigned to their final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The funeral which was largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased, took place from his late home, 25 Pleasant street at 8:30 o'clock and proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at nine o'clock by Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick, O. M. I.

The choir was in attendance and sang the Gregorian mass and during the service appropriate actions were rendered by the members of the choir.

The bearers were Messrs. Edward O'Keefe, James McDonald, Joseph Donohoe, Frank Carr, Edward McCormick and Peter O'Hagan.

The interment was in the Catholic cemetery where the consigned prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick, O. M. I. The funeral was under the direction of funeral director Thomas J. McDermott.

MURRAY—The funeral of William H. Murray, child of William H. and Mary E., who died of cerebro-spinal meningitis, took place this afternoon from the home of his parents. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of funeral director Thomas J. McDermott.

COOKE—The funeral of Miss Celia M. Cooke, who died in Haverhill, aged 16 years, was held here yesterday afternoon. The burial was in North Chelmsford, Undertaker J. B. Currier had charge.

IN THE BALANCE

Adother Attempt to End Chicago Strike

CHICAGO, June 2.—Upon the outcome of a conference in Mayor Dunne's office today between committees representing the team owners and teamsters, at which the latter were to be asked to give a definite answer regarding their willingness to submit to arbitration, the right of the team owners to deliver merchandise to "struck" firms depended developments that might bring the strike to a sudden termination.

Many of the team owners say that as a result of the teamsters' failure to settle the question whether the members of the truck drivers' union should be compelled to abide by a clause in their contract providing that in arbitration, they are ready for decisive action on their own part, even though it directly involves them in the strike. It was the purpose of the team owners to inform the representatives of the teamsters that they desired an immediate and decisive answer to their request for arbitration. Should the teamsters deny the request, a meeting of the team owners would be called at once and a vote taken on the question of making deliveries the teamsters would face the alternative of calling off the strike or seeing it spread to 5,000 more drivers.

The conference in the mayor's office ended when Fred Shea, of the Teamsters had to go before the grand jury. Nothing was accomplished and the conference will resume this afternoon in the hope that an agreement may be reached.

BAKER RESIGNS

MAYOR WEAVER SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—William H. Baker, assistant director of public works today by request tendered his resignation to Mayor Weaver. This is the first move on the part of the mayor of what he terms "a general shake up" in the departments which come under his jurisdiction. Baker was known as an "organization" man.

The salary of the office is $1200 a year.

BIG LAND FRAUDS

System of Robbery in California

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Examiner says:

The story of the land frauds in Oregon will be duplicated in California by the discovery of an elaborate system of robbery under color of law, by which means, with the help of forgers, great bodies of the public domain in Moloc and other northern counties have been brought under private ownership. In many instances this process has been worked out by means of dummy locators, but in some cases, of which the Examiner has proofs, the land thieves, grown bold by long impunity, have forged names of applicants on files of the surveyor general's office. Then land selections furnish what lawyers call the "bare" for the fraudulent locations in the northern mountain counties.

LATEST WITH THE BUILDERS Great Activity Shown Throughout the City

Business in the building line in this city at the present time is very brisk, but there is little new work of much account being started, owing probably to the fact that there is so much work underway at the present time that the builders have their hands full and wish to finish up on the work they are on at before starting any new work.

The work on the different buildings under way throughout the city is being pushed ahead with great rapidity and many of the large structures are well advanced. The brick work on the O'Hearn building at the corner of Jefferson and Market streets is up to the third story. The brick work on the Saunders building in Summer street, the foundation for the brick building in Market street, being erected by P. Conlon, is nearly completed, while Cyrus Barton has the foundation for the Mathew building on Dutton street well under way, and much progress has been made in the erection of the new mill for the Bigelow Carpet Co.

It is understood that there are plans ready for the erection of numerous buildings in the city, but they will not be made public until a good part of the present rush is over. There is also a rumor current to the effect that within a year several new mill buildings will be erected here.

The season has been very brisk thus far and without doubt will prove to be

McNULTY WILL

Third Hearing Held at Court House

The third hearing in the McNulty will case was held in the probate court room at the local court house in Gough street this morning. Judge McIntire presiding.

The case opened at the last regular session of the probate court held in this city.

At the opening of the court Lawyer Nathan D. Pratt, one of the counsel for the will, offered the bank book containing $1000 which had been turned over to the special administrator of the estate after the death of Hannah McNulty.

The first witness called was Catherine Kane, who testified to knowing Hannah McNulty since she came to Lowell, the deceased paying a visit to witness's home almost every Sunday and some time during the week.

Continuing witness said: "She was a spinner in the Appleton mills until about five or six years prior to her death, after which she went out house-keeping and taking care of children. She could read, but I do not know whether she could write."

"She went to church every Sunday and afterwards came to my house for dinner and stayed for supper generally, staying with me until eight or nine o'clock."

"I saw her the Tuesday before she died and spoke to her. I went up to see her Thursday night, and saw her, but she was unconscious. She died the following morning. The last time she called at my house before her death was on a Sunday in October. She complained of feeling ill at the time. When I last saw her I did not notice anything unusual in her conversation. Miss Mary McNulty was with me on that occasion."

"I never heard her say anything about being troubled with ghosts, dark men or light women."
Cross-examined by Lawyer William H. Bent: "She never said anything about her money or a will the last time she called at my house. Afterwards when I called to see her at her home I stayed about half an hour and all we spoke about was her health. On another occasion, about the middle of December, when I called, about all she spoke of was her illness. She did not tell me at any time that she didn't expect to get well." Witness then told of several other visits which she made to Miss McNulty prior to the latter's death.

"Did she ever say anything about her property?" asked Mr. Bent.

"No sir."

"Or her will?"

"No sir."

"Could she read?"

"Yes sir."

"What did she read?"

"The newspapers and books."

"You have seen her reading?"

"Yes sir, at my house."

"Did she ever read the newspapers aloud?"

"No sir."

"Well then how do you know that she could read?"

"Because she read a couple of paragraphs from a book once at my house."

"Could she write?"

"No sir."

"You are a cousin of Ann Morris?"

"Yes sir."

Lizzie Kane, a daughter of the previous witness, was then called, and testified to knowing Miss Hannah McNulty as they lived in the same house 17 or 18 years. She had seen and heard the deceased read, but could not say as to whether or not she could write.

Lawyer Devine, junior counsel in the case, said that in speaking to Mrs. McNulty the latter said that she would never have contested the will if the deceased had left her anything, but as she didn't she was going to change it to a will for seven weeks' service.

"Mrs. McNulty said that the will was not Hannah's but that it was one made by Ann Morris," said Mr. Devine. "She also stated that Father Roman had something to do with it also."

Lawyer Pratt announced to the court that he would rest his side of the case at this point.

Mrs. Mary McNulty was then called to the stand and testified: "When she was sick I told her that if she had any business affairs to settle she should settle them, and Hannah said: 'My business affairs are settled long ago.'"

One night after I put her to bed she got up again, and while I was passing by her door I heard her mumbling to herself: 'Hannah McNulty, Hannah McNulty, Hannah McNulty, make no will, Hannah McNulty, Hannah McNulty, I then went into her room and asked her why she didn't go to bed. She afterwards went back to bed."

Mrs. Spooner testified to being present when the will was read. "My mother said that she thought the will was unfair and thought that it was dictated."

Mrs. Mary McNulty recalled testimony: "Half an hour after the will was made Mrs. Hyde told me that I had been left to St. Peter's church. I immediately went down to see Father Roman and had a conversation with him about the money, stating that Hannah McNulty was not of sound mind."

This concluded the evidence in the case and counsel for and against the will will argue sometime after the 20th of the present month.

ON STRIKE

GIRLS SAY THEIR PAY HAS BEEN REDUCED.

CHICOPPEE, Mass., June 2.—Eighty-five girls employed in the spinning department of the Chicopee Manufacturing company's cotton mills are on strike, claiming that their pay has been reduced. The girls have been receiving 25 cents per box for spinning yarn and were able to make slightly more than $1 per day. According to the strikers the mill management now proposes to pay 23 cents per box. Under the strike is settled, or now made, the company's weaving department will be crippled.

400 YEARS

ANNIVERSARY OF DISCOVERY OF THE MERRIMACK RIVER.

The celebration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the Merrimack river is being planned for July 17, under the auspices of the Haverhill Historical organizations in conjunction with those of several New Hampshire towns through which the river flows. Inasmuch as the matter was broached a few days ago, all the plans are still in a tentative state and it will probably be several weeks before the full program can be completed sufficiently to allow it to be made public.

FR. DESPOUY

LOWELL PRIEST CONDUCTING A MISSION IN LAWRENCE.

The Lawrence Eagle today says: The Portuguese residents of this city turned out in large numbers last evening at St. Mary's church, the occasion being the opening of a three days' mission for the members of that nationality in this vicinity. Father Paul Despouy, of Anthony's church in Lowell, in conducting the mission, has devoted the time last evening to explaining the means of making the mission and naming the hours of the services.

The mission will be brought to a close Sunday and it is expected that it will prove of great assistance in formulating plans for a church in this city for the Portuguese residents.

BAD DEFEAT

BRITISH GOVERNMENT BEATEN IN FISCAL ISSUE.

LONDON, June 2.—The bye-election in the Whitley division of the North Riding of Yorkshire yesterday, following the succession of Ernest W. Beckett to the Grimthorpe peerage owing to the death of his uncle, Baron Grimthorpe, April 22, resulted in the election of a liberal, Noel Buxton, by a majority of 445 over Gervase Beckett, unionist, brother of the late member for Whitley. This was a crushing defeat for the government as the election was fought mainly on the fiscal question and in view of the fact that Whitley had been a conservative stronghold for 20 years.

HEAVY STATE TAX.

AS the tax rate in this state several weeks ago the tax rate this year is likely to be higher than last. The "old tax" follows on making all kinds of predictions about the increased tax rate but they deal in general statements. This state levy for Lowell this year will be $3500 as against $3800 last year. The board of assessors, however, has not received any official notice of the increased state tax.

SERVIA

DECIDES TO RECALL MINISTER FROM TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 2.—Servia has notified Turkey that she will recall her minister from Constantinople unless satisfaction is given by June 12 for the recent violation of the Serbian consulate at Monastir, Macedonia.

It appears that the local police searched the consulate and seized certain papers. Servia demands the dismissal and further punishment of the chief of police and that an official visit be paid to the consulate by the governor of Monastir with an expression of regret on the part of the government for the occurrence.

INHALED GAS

WOMAN MADE ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Despondent because her husband, an electrician, had gone away two weeks ago, after a quarrel, taking their two children with him, Mrs. George A. Nesbitt, 35 years old, tried to end her life by inhaling gas from a gasolene lamp in her home in a Madison avenue apartment today by gas asphyxiation. She is now in a hospital in a critical condition. Mrs. Nesbitt's parents reside in Boston and she had told a friend only a few minutes before she made the attempt upon her life, that she was going to them today. She had gone to her apartment to pack up her clothing, but the friend remarked that in her desperate condition she might attempt to do herself harm, followed her. Distressed to the apartment was gained through a window when the door was found locked and Mrs. Nesbitt was found lying on a bed with a rubber tube, one end of which was attached to a gas jet and the other in her mouth. Mrs. Nesbitt was unconscious.

"SCOTTY" YOUNG

ALLEGES HE IS VICTIM OF CONSPIRACY.

NEW YORK, June 2. That Duncan "Scotty" Young is a victim of a police conspiracy—that he was picked out at random to satisfy the popular clamor for someone to answer for the murder of George Elberhardt, was the ground taken today by Lewis Stuyvesant Chandler in his closing argument at Young's third trial for the murder.

"The police had to find someone upon whom they could put the crime," he said. "They naturally went to the places where they were most likely to find a man to stand for the crime. They went to such places as McMurphy's where they found Young. They thought he was a good man to fasten the crime upon and they did it."

Mr. Chandler said the prosecution had merely showed that Young had associated with criminal and disreputable characters, both men and women, in attempting to prove that he was a professional burglar. He told the jury that it was not the defendant's character that was on trial and that the charge against him was in the first degree and not burglary. He maintained that Young was innocent and declared that the bullet that killed Elberhardt might have been fired by a policeman during the fusillade of shots which were sent after the burglar who were being pursued at the time of the killing.

IS THE PRESIDENT SCARED?

President Roosevelt believes that the victory of Togo over the Russians confirms his theory that a great fleet is the first requisite of national peace. Both Russia and Japan seemed to be well prepared for peace in this respect before the war started. The president evidently sees fresh danger in the orient.

FREEBOOTERS COWED BY PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

It was the force of public sentiment aroused by the press that caused the freebooters of Philadelphia to retreat. Now that they are on the run would it not be a good idea to pursue them to the last ditch and there end them politically.

THE RIGHT KIND OF PHILANTHROPY.

WAS CHELMSFORD TO BLAME?

That is a very pitiful case in Chelmsford in which an evicted family had to make their abiding place in a pasture even while the town was jubilitating in its 250th anniversary. The selectman who permitted such a condition to exist in the town is not to be envied for his human sympathy.

Everybody will approve the slambang feature on the Fourth just as most people will approve the absence of a fireman's muster which of late years has taken on a condition of jumbled obsolescence.

TELL THE CZAR HE'S WHIPPED.

The czar is considering whether he will continue the war. He should consider what steps he should take to prevent his empire from going to pieces. The people are on the verge of a revolution. If he keeps on in his style of warfare Japan will take St. Petersburg. Somebody should tell him that he is whipped.

THE KIND OF A HALL WE NEED.

Commander Thissell, in his campfire speech after the parade on Memorial Day, made the statement that Lowell should have a public hall that would accommodate 5000 people if necessary. That, indeed, would be a great public convenience. If we ever build a public hall, we should have a good one, one that would be a credit to the city, one in which there would be the greatest possible security and the greatest facility for escape in an emergency. These requisites can be attained only where the building is enclosed on all sides by public streets.

THE SPIT BALL UNDER THE BAN.

The Newark, N. J., board of health has sounded a note of warning in regard to the danger to the public and private health from the spit ball on the ball field—something that has utterly escaped the notice of our local board of health.

The twirlers who use this method of greasing the ball before its projection upon its devious course will have to change their tactics, at least in Newark. The sputum coated sphere is regarded as a messenger of disease from pitcher to catcher, from catcher to basemen and outfielders; and it is to be presumed that when the ball is met squarely by the bat there is a dispersion of infinitesimal germs somewhat resembling the radiation of rays from a common centre, thus transmuting to the infinitude of atmospheric conductivity the salivated contaminating bacteriological atoms of consumption and tuberculosis to the destructivity of cellular tissue in the bronchial organism of the individual in which they may find the proper germinating susceptibility.

Who can deny that the Newark board of health has made a most important discovery and taken most effective steps to prevent the worst consequences—the extinction of the ball tosser and the abandonment of the game. Truly a national calamity has been averted. Now that the Newark board of health has saved the country from the dangers of the spit ball, it might be well for somebody to inform its members that another danger almost equally great threatens, and let this distinguished body give the world a saving thesis on the origin, cause and cure of cerebro-spinal meningitis.

Contest Over Will of a Wealthy Bachelor

ALFRED, Me., June 2.—The contest over the will of Augustus B. Sloman, the wealthy Saco bachelor, who left his estate to his boarding mistress, Mrs. Emily Darville, may not be concluded this week, though Judge Tenbody yesterday began evening sessions in order to expedite matters. It is anticipated that the examination of the Darville family will occupy the greater part of a day, and nearly as much time will be needed for the medical experts. If the trial is not concluded Saturday night, an adjournment will probably be taken until after the close of the law term sitting in July.

Yesterday's session began with a somewhat sensational acknowledgment in relation to the disposition of $2700.

There Is No Comparison.

There can be no reasonable comparison between The Sun and other local sheets.

In Circulation, Influence, Character, Enterprise and Excellence

as a newspaper it is in a class by itself. There really is no room for comparison. It is by all odds which Mr. Sloman drew from savings banks in Augusta and Bangor a few months before his death. Judge Cleaves of the probate court announced that Mr. Sloman retained possession of this money, except about $100 he paid out, until his death, and that then, in compliance with his oral request, Mrs. Darville took charge of it. It is still in her custody.

"Does she claim it as a gift from him?" Mr. Haselton of the contestant's counsel asked. Judge Cleaves replied that he could not say what Mrs. Darville's claim is regarding it.

The prima facie evidence in support of the will having been concluded, the contestant's side of the case was opened yesterday, and 10 or 12 witnesses were examined. The sole allegation on which the contest is based is that the testator was under control of Mrs. Darville when the will was made.

MAYOR WOOD

SAYS HE DID NOT PLAY THE RACES.

HAVERHILL, June 2.—Walter S. Hodgdon presented a communication to the aldermen last evening in which he asked the board to investigate the rumor that Mayor Wood lost $100 on his horse in a race at the quarter-mile speedway at Riverside park, May 27, and if the allegation was true to remove the mayor from office.

The aldermen previous to the public session read the communication and when it was reached in the order of business it was received without reading.

After the meeting Mayor Wood denied the charge, saying that if anyone saw him bet a cent on a horse race he could see white blackbirds.

FOUR WEALTHY CHINESE NOT ALLOWED TO LAND.

BOSTON, June 2.—Four Chinese, three brothers and their sister, members of the wealthiest, most highly cultured and refined classes of the Flowery Kingdom, were held up in this city yesterday upon the arrival of the steamship Ivernia, and, in spite of the fact that one of their relatives in Shanghai is governor of the province, and others are owners of some of the richest banks in the east, they were obliged to have their photographs taken, furnish a bond and spend the night on the Ivernia instead of in a fashionable hotel, just as any ordinary Chinese laundryman might.

The names of these people are K. T. King, Z. D. King, S. G. King and Miss T. King; and although they were armed with passports and a letter of introduction from former Ambassador Choate, they could not evade the strict requirements of the Chinese immigration laws, inconvenient as they found them to be.

ACCIDENT CASES.

While at work at the Tremont & Suffolk mills yesterday afternoon Frank Ueha, aged 30, of Davidson street, had his right foot crushed by having a heavy casting fall on it. Treated at the Emergency hospital.

Charges Lawyer With Subornation of Perjury

ROCHESTER, N. H., June 2.—Hiram A. Mace became violently insane yesterday afternoon. While being taken to the police station in a wagon by Assistant City Marshal Wilkinson and Special Officer Dams, who had driven to his home in the Milton road to get him, he suddenly broke away from his keepers, as Central square was reached, and jumped for the wagon, taking the policeman's ax from the wagon.

Brandishing the implement, he defied the officers to touch him, and ran through the square to the mill yard, closely followed by Officer Dams. Police in the streets, alarmed at Mace's shouts and actions, ran in every direction to get out of the way. He threatened to strike Dams with the ax, if the latter touched him. Dams followed Mace to the Cocheco river bank. There Mace plunked in and waded across, the water being about five feet deep. He stopped when he reached the other side.

Shortly afterward Mace allowed City Marshal Allen to approach and disarm him and went with him peacefully to the station.

Mace is about 60 years old and has been treated at the New Hampshire insane asylum several times. He has been at liberty more than a year, working as a driver for a coal and ice dealer. He will be sent back to the asylum.

Quite a number of sailor lads have been visiting in Lowell within the last few days. Some of them are on the U. S. S. Illinois and others on the Colorado. These two vessels have been testing the new dry docks at the Charlestown navy yard. Among the sailor boys who visited in Lowell on Memorial day was George Polsson who is a blacksmith on the Illinois. Mr. Polsson has bought a house in this city and will move his family here. In the course of conversation with a representative of The Sun Mr. Polsson said that the U. S. S. Prairie was about to go out of commission and that her crew would be transferred. Members of the Prairie's crew were among the visitors who dropped into Lowell on Memorial day.

THREE THUGS

ATTACKED AND ROBBED A DORCHESTER MAN.

BOSTON, June 2.—Harry Barrow, aged 38, of 321 Dochester avenue, was knocked down, kicked and robbed on Way street early last evening by three men, who the police believe are the same ones who have been committing similar crimes in that vicinity of late. Before the robbers got through with Barrow they washed his face and head of the blood and dirt that had collected from the beating he had received and took the money in their heels. One of them, Thomas Dolan, of 17 Washington street, South Boston, who the police say is an old offender, was arrested by Patrolman Ryan of the East Dedham street station after he had been chased nearly half a mile.

A FAVORITE

RING FOLLOWERS EXPECT YOUNG CORBETT TO WIN.

William H. Rothwell of Denver, better known to the pugilistic world as "Young Corbett," the former feather-weight champion, and Eddie Hanlon of San Francisco, the idol of the Pacific coast sports, will meet for the third time in Frisco tonight.

Although no championship is at stake tonight, an unbounded amount of interest hinges upon the result. A Jimmy Britt has practically promised the winner a match for July, notwithstanding that articles of agreement are already drawn up and signed for a meeting between Britt and "Battling Nelson."

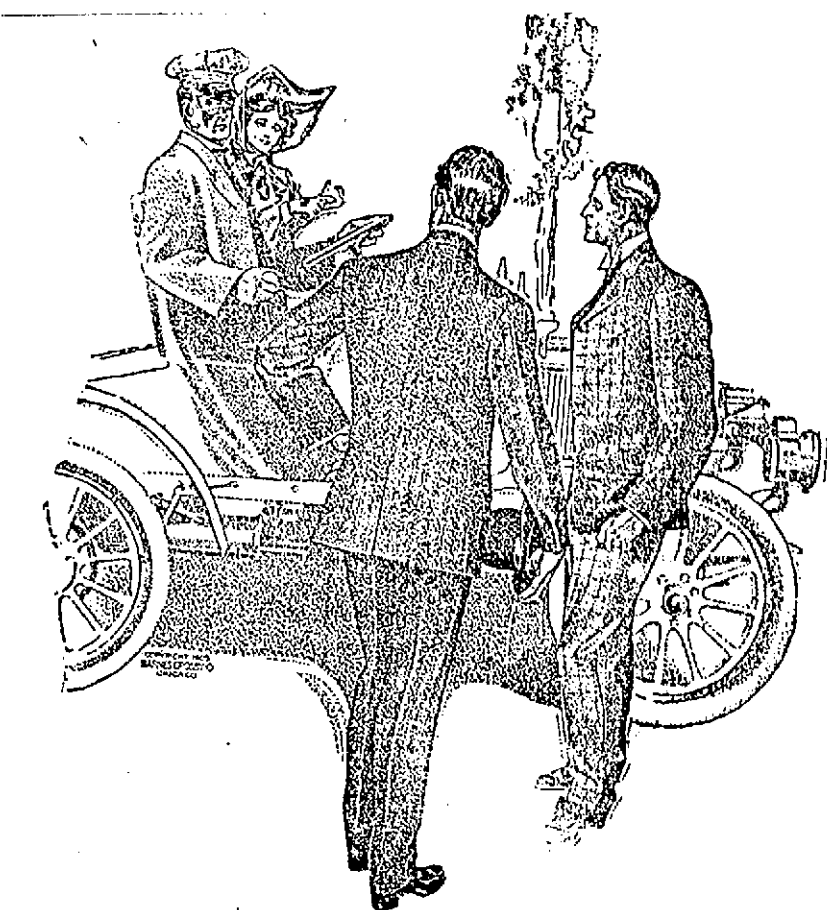

By reason of his recent performances Corbett will not enter the ring as a heavy favorite. He will, however, be the choice over the Californian as he has proven his superiority over that lad. Both have gone back a great deal in the past few years, and it is a toss-up which one has deteriorated the more.

Feb. 26, 1903, Hanlon started the sporting world by going 20 rounds to a draw with Corbett, who at that time still retained much of his championship form. They met a second time, Dec. 29 of the same year, and Hanlon succumbed to the terrific pummeling he received, in 16 rounds.

LOWELL DEFEATED.

Fine Suits From Rogers, Peet & Co.

that are positively unapproached by any other clothing ready-to-wear. Few men who have their clothes made to order by an expensive tailor are better dressed—many not as correctly clad—as those to whom we sell Rogers-Peet's suits. The materials are of the very finest qualities, the workmanship of the highest order; all collars, buttonholes and lapels are made by hand; the style of the garments is exactly what you would obtain from a high-class merchant tailor in New York. Every pattern is controlled by Rogers, Peet & Co. and cannot be found in any other clothing ready-made. Smooth faced worsteds, serges and black and blue unfinished worsteds from Rogers, Peet & Co., for $15, $20, $22, and up to $30.

BLUE SERGE AND BLACK SUITS

Here is a splendid group of suits, and possibly more good black and blue suits than all Lowell can show. Plain blue serges, unfinished blue worsted, unfinished black worsted and plain black Thibets, in double and single breast sacks—men's and young men's suits in all possible sizes—every suit in this great black and blue stock is new—absolutely all wool—guaranteed fast color and made with exceptional care; stays and canvas are shrunk to avoid cockling; coats have French hair cloth fronts, which ensure permanent shape, all trousers have belt straps. The suits for young men are cut on the same smart-snappy patterns used in our fancy suits for young men—trousers peg-top. These blue and black goods we contracted for early last fall, before prices went skyward, and every suit we offer is from $2 to $3 better value than could be bought on today's market. Men's and young men's blue and black suits, single and double breast, $10, $15, $20.

Young Men's Suits That Have Created A Sensation

that have brought us a business beyond all precedent and that are positively unapproached in smartness of style, in perfection of fit, in elegance of patterns.

This young men's clothing, 32 to 38 breast measure, is a revelation, and has revolutionized the young men's business in Lowell. We have provided young men's clothes on the most liberal scale, showing more than a hundred brand new patterns, of smooth faced worsteds, and worsted cheviots, besides our greys, blues and blacks. Weaves, fabrics and colorings chosen in every instance to please the young man's fancy. Coats are single and double breast, cut longer, with deep side vents or back tack, broad shoulders, wide lapels and wide collars, and the most perfect fitting garments ever offered ready-to-wear. Trousers full peg-top with belt straps. It is a stunning great show of young men's clothes and from the lowest priced to the most expensive—all made with the single purpose of meeting the young man's idea. These suits $8, $10, $12, $15, up to $22.

THE TENOR SOLIST.

Mr. Michael J. Dwyer of Boston is to be the tenor soloist for the Verdi Requiem and it is but to repeat an often pronounced tribute of the press to say that his voice is one of the most remarkable tenors upon the concert stage of the day. This statement has the endorsement of the audience who have listened to his singing. His voice combines the sweet, soft and sympathetic quality of the purest lyric tenor voice with the strength, volume and range of the dramatic "tenor robusto." Mr. Dwyer enjoys a prominent position in the leading musical societies of Boston and is at present one of the soloists of the Apollo club of that city.

The marriage of Mr. Francis W. Coughlin and Miss Elizabeth Anna Page will take place in the chapel at Notre Dame academy, Wednesday, June 14.

MARY WYNN WINS BUREAU OF PROMISE SUIT.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 2.—The jury in the Mary C. Wynn-Michael R. Downey breach of promise case, in which $25,000 damages were asked, returned a verdict in favor of Miss Wynn for $10,000. Miss Wynn has long been in Fall River.

Downey is now to defend a similar suit brought by Mrs. Mary J. Fuller of Lynn for $25,000. He is an ex-policeman who inherited $100,000 in cash from his first wife. These suits were brought last summer, immediately after Downey was married to Miss Elizabeth Donovan of Pawtucket.

HON. GEORGE H. MARTIN.
Hon. George H. Martin of Boston, secretary of the state board of education, and a trustee of Rogers Hall school, gave an address on "The Transient and the Permanent in Education." He said:

"It is not without significance, that on this beautiful June afternoon, two institutions in this city celebrate their commencement exercises, the Lowell Textile school and this Rogers Hall school for young women. I think that one might profitably spend a whole afternoon in the consideration of what this coincidence means, in the light of modern education. Looking back at the days of Lucy Larcom and her friends in the mills of Lowell, who spent their nights in study, we see how far society has come in two directions; in the direction of the higher education of women as illustrated here; in the development of the higher education of those who are to do their part in the industrial life of the community, as shown in the Textile school.

"In the daily routine of our educational work, we often lose sight of the more obscure elements that enter into the education, as the work of life. The often exercise that which, after all, is more transient, and under-estimate that which, after all, is the enduring element.

"We need, in the first place, to rid ourselves of the somewhat narrow idea that education is purely the function of a school. We are coming to feel that education is not confining; that it is an incident in life. Education is life. It begins when we begin to live, and it continues as long as we live. Schools are by no means the only means of education. All that enters into life is means of education. Its lessons, its gains, its victories, its defeats, home education, people educated by and for work in a place where business education, social life education; and thus all of the powers of the mind are being drawn out, trained and developed, and we become men and women fitted to fill our places in society.

"Let us notice at this point, a distinction between the transient and the permanent. Education is enduring. I should say first, that knowledge is transient. These young ladies have acquired a good deal of it, and they want it to last through this month of June long enough for them to answer all of the questions that will be put to them in that college entrance examination. I am not sure that they realize how little beyond that fatal day it will really last, after all. The knowledge that we acquire with so much labor all the way up, does disappear amazingly.

"Among the elements of education, I would mention habit, it becomes of vital importance that these habits, which are so enduring, be of the best. Habits of person, habits of speech, may become as permanent and so fixed.

"Power is permanent. It is acquired gradually, and finally becomes a part of one's nature. To see the relation of things, to judge correctly in the experiences of life; and then the power to do things, to accomplish something. Every one asks now not what does a man know, but what can he do.

"Tastes are permanent. If a man's tastes are low and degraded, we may say he is a mean man; we may say he has a noble character if his tastes are elevating and refined.

"The love of good reading is one of the permanent acquisitions which come through education. A true love of books and the love of nature never conflict. Then there is the love of art and of music, which give to our life something that always endures. But there is a higher taste even, than these. It is the love of service. The world has been enriched always by men and women who have been living not for themselves. We ought to get out of our education this idea of service, living out our life in some way so that some one is better for our having lived. The opportunities were never so great as now; the demands were never so great as now. Society demands the best of every man and every woman. The need of this co-operative spirit, and of this feeling that we are all one in social needs and ought to be one in social endeavor for the highest good of us all.

"Out of all these elements, comes the individual forth into the world, to do his work as the world needs to have it done. The education that is best is with reference to all these things. What habits has he, what power has he, what taste has he, what means has he? To these young ladies, standing where the brook and river meet, I commend this idea, that in your present and in your future, you will be thinking of these things, realizing that the knowledge acquired here will after all disappear; and will ask yourselves, Am I acquiring these more permanent things?"

REV. DR. CHAMBER.
The absence of the president of the board of trustees, Rev. John M. Green, D. D., Rev. A. St. John Chamber made a brief address to the graduating class, and conferred the diplomas.

Rev. George E. Martin, D. D., pronounced the benediction. The class motto is "Laurels."

The list of graduates is as follows: Alice Abbott, Goshen, Indiana; Alice Neal Baley, Muchus, Maine; Hortense Colby Berlin, New Hampshire; Harriet Emily Dacey, Amesbury, New Hampshire; Helen Downer, Boston; Pauline Farrington, Lowell; Anthony Matheson Gorton, Gloucester; Priscilla Jennett Howes, Lockport, New York; Harriet French Nesmith, Lowell; Isabel Whitelaw Nesmith, Lowell; Dorothy Dewey Norton, Henningston, Vermont; Harriet Clifton Perkins, Jacksonville, Illinois; Helen Porter, Winona, Minnesota; Alice Elvina Robinson, Lowell; Lora Mae Stevens, Lowell.

The class president, Miss Gorton, presented to the school, in behalf of the class, a mahogany table for the drawing room. Miss Gorton said: "We needed a good, firm table. The girls will appreciate the fact that it stands on eight good, firm legs, and does not wobble if we look at it. It is also a correct reproduction of the old table around which the Declaration of Independence was signed. The self was accepted by Major C. A. St. John in behalf of the trustees. He thanked the class for the gift and told the girls that they were sweet and pretty.

A lawn fete followed the literary exercises. Under the trees small tables had been spread and chairs arranged for the comfort of guests.

CUT HIS THROAT

FALL RIVER, June 2.—News has been received here by Mrs. John Richards of 11 Eighth street that her son John, 23 years of age, and a sailor on United States steamer Virginia, was murdered in his bunk by a quarrelsome shipmate on May 2. The murder is supposed to have been committed in a southern port, but only meagre details of the crime have reached here. All that is known by the Richards family in the following letter:

"The chief of bureau directs me to inform you that one Thomas Warren, sailing on board the U. S. S. Virginia, was killed on the 24 inst., and just prior to his death, made the statement that his true name was John Richards, and that his mother lived at the address below. Please inform the bureau if the statements made by Warren are correct.

"Respectfully,
"C. THEO. VOGLAUG,
"Lieutenant U. S. N."
Mrs. John Richards, 11 Eighth street, Fall River.

Up to this time the Richards family had not known their son was in the navy.

THE MINERS

JOHN MITCHELL STARTS ORGANIZING CAMPAIGN AMONG THEM.

York for Scranton on Tuesday to attend mass meetings of the anthracite miners, is still in this city. Although Mitchell himself is non-committal, it is known that he will try before he leaves to have the president of the coal operators agree to make arrangements for meeting them later. The two years' agreement between the coal operators and the miners which was brought about by the anthracite strike constitution expires on April 1, 1906, and it is known by the president of the companies that Mitchell will start an organizing campaign among the miners when he leaves New York and before he returns to Indianapolis. At the offices of the companies it was stated yesterday that Mitchell had not called so far. President W. E. Tinsley of the Lackawanna said yesterday evening that he understood that Mr. Mitchell would address meetings of the miners in the anthracite districts as soon as he left New York. As to what, if any, new demands would be made when the present agreement expired he could say nothing.

"The anthracite strike constitution," he said, "will go out of existence automatically when the agreement expires. The constitution committee may or may not continue in existence."

Mr. Tinsley said that large quantities of anthracite were being mined. This was partly because of the low price of coal at present, the famine state of the strike two years ago having made householders careful to lay in supplies now.

"As to wages," he said, "they are based on the price of coal. What they may be after April 1 we do not know yet. Matters are quiet now, and if there is any trouble next year it will be up to the miners."

It was learned that when Mitchell goes to Scranton he will go at once into conference with Presidents Nicholas, Fairly and Dettrey of the three anthracite districts. The entire situation will be considered and organization mass meetings will be held at which Mitchell will be the principal speaker.

He is anxious to avoid a strike next year, though members who grow lukewarm when a strike is over will be hard to keep in line if there is no strike.

WILL SELL

CHICAGO LINES MAKE OFFER TO MAYOR DUNNE.

CHICAGO, June 2.—A definite proposition on the part of the traction companies to sell the car systems to the city has been made to Mayor Dunne, and it reports at the City Hall are covered the offer will in all probability be accepted. This development leaked out yesterday while the mayor and a number of traction advisers were in consultation with James Dolegale, manager of the Glasgow municipal tramways. It is believed that negotiations between the city and the companies will be concluded soon.

The proposition includes: The immediate turning over of the two traction systems to the city, or at least their operation under city supervision; the rehabilitation of both systems by their present owners, the city ultimately paying for whatever outlay is necessary in order to establish a first class and up to date service; election to the board of directors of both systems of representatives and experts for the city, who shall work in harmony with the general managers of the traction companies; the temporary passing over of the so-called ninety-nine year rights; the awaiting of a final determination of the status of these rights before estimating or attempting to establish a value for the intangible property of the systems; an appraisal of present values of the systems; the readiness of Muller law certificates in payment for the properties.

Pending payment by the city, it is understood the present owners of the traction systems would stand in the relation of trustees of the properties. At the conclusion of the litigation in the ninety-nine year case the city, upon final payment of whatever sum a board of appraisers decided was due to the companies, would get absolute possession of the systems and municipal ownership would be an established fact.

Just what sum has been agreed upon for the present tangible values of the traction system could not be ascertained, but in the case of the city railway system it was said that it would approximate 8 per cent. on the present carrying capacity of the lines, and in case of the Union Traction system 2 to 3 per cent. on the preferred stock of the Union Traction company, plus the guaranteed interest on the bonds outstanding.

WILL CELEBRATE ST. JOHN'S DAY.

Carrillon council, Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amérique, will hold a banquet on St. John's day, June 2, at St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street.

The council is the only one of the French organizations in this city which is going to celebrate the day, though the C. M. A. C. will have a celebration on the same day. The latter event, however, will be the celebration of the Feast of the Sacred Heart which is the association's patronal feast.

Carrillon council has appointed the following committees to organize the affair:

President general, Eliezer H. Choquette; secretary general, Auguste Levesque; treasurer general, Maxime Lepine.

Committees on music and decorations, H. A. Racicot, Ephrem Corriller, Louis Asselin, Albert Germain, Joseph Ouellette and Ovide Fortier.

Press committee, Maxime Lepine and Arthur Teague.

Committee on invitations, E. H. Choquette, Auguste Levesque and Maxime Lepine.

Some well known speakers from this city as well as from other large French centres of New England will be invited to deliver patriotic addresses.

Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Jameson of Somerville were visiting in Lowell this week.

Dr. William H. Harrington, formerly of this city but now of Providence, R. I., was in town yesterday.

GLORIOUS FOURTH

LOWELL WILL HAVE A BIG TIME THIS YEAR.

This year's Fourth of July committee is made up of pretty good material and it looks as if Lowell would be treated to one of the best observances in her history. The stambling parade will be a great drawing card and the fact that it has been and will be well advertised in the papers, will bring big crowds from out of town. There are not a few disgruntled ones, however, because of the fact that the committee is disposed to cut out the men's muster and children's entertainment, but it seems to be the thought of the majority that it would be better to have one attraction and have it right than to have several and have them half right.

The committee will have generous assistance in making a great big success of the stambling parade. Men who took part in stambling parades years ago have told members of the committee that they will be on hand this year to do their share in making the stambling parade as interesting, horrible and as comical as possible.

Continued.
One of the best sites in the Spindle City for a good many years.
Those who bid on the Daniel street school plans are cutting down their bids a trifle in order to allow a margin for the furnishing of the school and also to allow the architect his commission.
The recent absorption of the Lowell machine shop and Kitchin Co. by a firm which is supposed to be the Draper Co. of Hingham, Mass., has been the cause of many rumors, some of which are very absurd, while others seem probable.
NEW MACHINE SHOPS.
A well known local man who is in touch with the merger of the two local corporations and who is generally one of the first men in the city to learn of new work in the building line, has learned from a reliable source that before another year has gone by plans will be completed for the erection of several new machine shops which will without doubt eventually extend from the present building occupied by the Kitchin Co. down to Broadway.
Kitchin street, extending from Dutton street to Warren street, is private property and can be closed at any time by its owners, while the corporation property from Kitchin street to Broadway, bounded by Dutton and Warren streets was the property of the Lowell machine shop, and now of course belongs to the merger who purchased the stock of that company.
The company which owns the two local corporations above mentioned is probably the largest mill machinery manufacturing concern in the world, and owing to the number of new mills that are being built and the big machinery that is being discarded for new, will mean a big extension of the companies works, and as the vast area of land bounded by Kitchin, Broadway, Warren and Dutton streets, is being devoted to tenement property, from which there is not a very large income, it is very probable that when the company's plan is enlarged, the site of the new buildings will be in that section.
If the company decides to build in Lowell it will mean a big boom for this city for both of the local machine shops having been paying good wages and the erection of new buildings will mean the employment of many hundreds more hands.
An official of the Kitchin company interviewed after the Kitchin was purchased said:

"Yes, in all probability, we will have to enlarge our buildings."
"Well, I suppose that you will close Kitchin street and erect another building to connect with the present plant?"
"Well, we have plenty of space to build on if we want to, for we can go from here to Broadway."
"Why, does the Lowell Machine Shop own the property from Kitchin street to Broadway?"
"Well, yes it does, or rather it did, but the company that purchased the stock in this company also purchased the stock of the Lowell Machine shop."
Messrs. Barker and Hennessey, proprietors of the Broadway and Broadway, will commence in a week or so to make extensive additions to their bowling and skating place. The wooden building adjoining the O'Dowd building which they recently purchased will either be raised or removed. If a suitable purchaser can be found the building will be sold and removed, or else it will be raised and extensive improvements made in it.
The management of the Broadway finds that its increasing patronage demands a large space for the skaters and when the improvements have been made the patrons of the rink at the fall opening will have a new and up-to-date circular floor, the floor space to be 120 by 65 feet, making one of the largest skating surfaces in New England.
The present entrance to the rink will be abandoned and the floor extended from Third to Warren streets. The first floor of the new building will be turned into a store, while the upper floors will be devoted to office, reception rooms and skating.
The ruins of Huntington hall are getting to be an eyesore to the public and the people are anxiously awaiting a decision as to whether or not the hall will be rebuilt or completely torn down. While the majority of the people are in favor of abandoning the site, owing to the many inconveniences connected with a public hall being on the site, a few are in favor of the rebuilding of the hall, while others favor another site, and even others cannot see the necessity of a public hall at all.

GAS LIGHT BUILDING.
The Staples Bros. Co. has a big job on its hands at the Lowell Gas Light Co.'s property in School street, that of erecting a mammoth skating tank for skaters. Like many other modern constructions it will be built of cement, but will differ from the other buildings on the premises as it will be built in the ground. Men are now at work excavating. It will be about 100 by 45 feet, and will be about 10 feet deep. The structure when completed will be in keeping with the numerous other recently constructed buildings on the land of this company.
The new Swedish church in Olney street, off Cornhill street, is rapidly nearing completion. All of the exterior work has been completed and the workmen are now busily engaged on the interior. Despite the fact that the church is a rather small one, it will be sufficiently large to accommodate the members. The interior will be finished in a manner which will reflect great credit on the builders.
An up-to-date double tenement house is being erected in Grace street by Contractor E. Gray for Miss Amanda M. Hadley. The house will be 26x24 feet when completed, two and one-half stories high, and will set back from the street line 22 feet. The estimated cost of the building is $1000.
The increasing popularity of the automobile has caused its many purchasers who have no stables, to have erected a suitable shelter for their machines, and several years ago an automobile stable was unheard of in this city, but at the present time the auto stables are numerous.
Olin M. Harris is one of the latest owners to have a stable erected, the work being done by C. T. Barton at Mr. Harris' property at 18 Ephraim street.
A Sawyer is erecting a $3000 double tenement house in Moody street, near Third avenue. The building when completed will have a frontage of 45 feet and will extend back 85 feet and will be two and one-half stories high.
David Zisking is remodeling his property at 18 Apple street, changing over a store in the building in order to make room for a tenement.
W. E. Potter of 100 Shaw street is making an addition to his property.

which when completed will include a kitchen, chamber, pantry and bath room.
Many permits for alterations and improvements of tenement property are being granted at the office of the superintendent of lands and buildings at city hall, some of the owners adding rooms, others erecting piazzas, etc.
Contractor Cyrus Barton reports that the foundation and wheel pit which he is erecting for the Whitney Wood company in Royalston, Mass., is progressing rapidly.
Cornelius Collins, proprietor of the Franklin house, has had the interior of his residence on High street remodeled. New hardwood floors are put in, new mantels and new wall finish in every room. He has recently bought two fine houses built by Mr. Steadman in the Highlands.
FOR NEW FAULKNER MILL.
Plans are being considered by the Faulkner Manufacturing company of North Billerica for a new plant to be erected on the company's land. It is said that the new addition if accepted, will be erected just below the old mill with a frontage on the lower Concord river.

Huge Task.
It was a huge task, to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of E. F. Collier, of Cheroke, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without aching, and suffered from dreadful backache, head-ache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all who have weak kidneys, liver or stomach." C. F. KEYES Auctioneer

Real Estate, Public Auction and Private Sale
Office, 52 Central Street, Lowell, Mass.
OPEN EVERY EVENING.

TWO VERY FINE LOTS OF 5000 SQUARE FEET EACH SITUATED ON THE WESTERLY SIDE OF HAMPSHIRE STREET.

These two parcels of land, each containing 5000 square feet, have frontages of about 50 feet on each street. They are good lots, and will undoubtedly prove quite valuable to their purchasers, for they are well located for building purposes, right in the heart of a fine neighborhood, with all city advantages, and are exceptionally fine building sites. Hampshire street runs from West Sixth street, to Bridge street, and this lot of land is not far from the well known Cremery property. Now, here is a chance for the speculator to invest in a worthy proposition. When I bought these lots it was my intention to build right away, but as I am about to move from the city, I am determined to sell them to the highest bidder.
Terms: $75 will be required as a deposit on each lot and must be paid to the auctioneer at time and place of sale.
C. F. KEYES in Charge.

BLOCK OF ELEVEN TENEMENTS, STORE AND ABOUT 4000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 70 1/2 AND 72 JEFFERSON ST.

We are determined to sell, regardless of weather or price, this eleven tenement block with store and about 4000 square feet of land to whoever will make the highest bid on the day of sale.
The block contains eleven tenements of 3, 4, or 5 rooms each, and while not in perfect repair at the present time, could with the proper care and handling which it has not had for some time past, be made to pay a grand revenue on the price you will pay for it at public sale. It is a three-story building, with every part of it arranged into tenements. Now it will be well for you to give this property some consideration, as we are determined to sell it and some one is sure to get a great trade. The lot contains about 4000 square feet of land with a frontage of the street of about 33 feet, the location is a decidedly good one for tenement property, and there is no reason why this store, located as it is could not be made to rent to good advantage.
Terms: $500 at time and place of sale.
C. F. KEYES in Charge.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

Of a two-tenement house and about 5072 square feet of land at No. 74 Crosby street. Promptly at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, I will sell without limit or reserve this piece of property situated at No. 74 Crosby street. To the person wishing to invest a small amount of capital, one who could be on the premises and look after it, that is to live in one of the tenements. It would certainly make a good investment for a small amount of money. The house consists of two tenements, one of four and one of six rooms. They are rented at the present time, and rent for about $190 a year. It is in very fair repair and with the proper handling could undoubtedly be made to pay more. The lot is a large one of 5072 square feet, with a frontage on Crosby street of about 12 feet, the extreme depth being about 99 feet. It is well located tenement property, being close proximity with the Hunting Mills, Carriage Shop and many other industries located in this section. Having had placed with me this property, to make an absolute and quick sale, I shall positively sell to the highest bidder on that date set apart for sale. This neat and complete little home or we might say, a country home with all the city conveniences. It sits on the northerly side of Parker street, has grand, good elevation overlooking parts of the city; and is a most desirable small home property. The house contains seven large rooms, pantry, bath, is gas lighted and has a fine cemented cellar. The stable has good carriage room, stalls for two horses and a good loft over head. The buildings are in very good condition, and it would have to be seen to be appreciated. The lot is large, it contains 8329 square feet, with a frontage on Parker street of about 65 feet. It is high and dry and offers to those wishing to purchase a neat little home, everything that could be desired in one.
Terms: $300 must be paid to the auctioneer, as soon as property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.

I have pledged to the auctioneer for absolute sale, to be sold on the premises regardless of weather, to the highest bidder, a lot of land situated on the northerly side of Keene street and adjoining the Sullivan property. It has an excellent site for a block. The lot has a frontage of 63 feet on Keene street and contains about 4150 square feet of land.
This I consider a fine opportunity for someone who would like to build in a fine renting locality.
Terms: $75 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off.
